Howard is said to have been a boarder in the Benton home at one time. The court did not set bail in the cases and the defendants are in jail. Preliminary investigation has indicated that the offense, if committed, may have taken place outside Orange county, in which case jurisdiction would lie elsewhere.

Western States Farm Leaders Will Convene Here

MEETING WILL TAKE PLACE IN JULY OF 1931

Acceptance of the invitation from the Orange County Farm Bureau to the Western States conference of the Western Region of the American Farm Bureau federation to hold the annual meeting in Santa Ana next July was received here today by the board of directors of the county organization in the regular monthly meeting of that body. This means that 300 leaders from 12 western states will gather in Santa Ana next July for the regional conference. The invitation was extended by the Orange county delegation at the conference in Salt Lake City last July.

Plans made today by the board included the organization of work looking toward a successful meeting of the regional group here next year.

Dates for the annual membership drive were set for November 18-21 with a dinner meeting on the night of November 17 as a training school for the teams. An intensive campaign is to be made to recruit the strength of the organization to keep it among the leaders in the state.

Plans were also approved for the caravan to the state meeting at Asilomar which will leave Orange county on November 8.

A petition of 28 persons in the Placentia district asking recognition as the Placentia Farm center which was filed today with the board was granted and the organization of the new center is to be effected at a meeting to be held in Placentia next Monday evening.

During the session today the question of water waste by gun clubs was injected into the discussion by W. C. Mauerhan, of Anaheim, who appeared before the board and asked that some action be taken by the Farm Bureau to check the practice of pumping water on grounds for the creation of duck ponds. He asserted that pumping operations have begun and that at some clubs the pumps are running night and day, with resultant water waste by evaporation and running away to the ocean. Mauerhan has long been active in the fight against the use of water by gun clubs for this purpose and asserted that he had made a personal investigation of conditions that revealed that artesian water is being pumped.

The body will be returned to the home in New Mexico by Winbiger's Funeral home. Services will be held and interment made there, with no service in Santa Ana, it was learned today. In addition to the son at whose home she was visiting, Mrs. Mawson is survived by a daughter, Cleo, and two other sons, Richard and Alex.

The capital city, situated at the mouth of the river, Ozama, has many ancient houses although some sections are sturdily built. The great cathedral, in which the bones of Columbus rested until 1795, is one of the chief structures in the center of the capital.

It is the second oldest European city in the new world.

Red Cross Will Send Aid At Once

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Government officials and the American Red Cross joined today to provide relief for Santo Domingo as reports told of destruction in the city caused by the tropical hurricane, which the weather bureau advised was moving toward the Florida straits.

Ernest J. Swift, acting chairman of foreign operations for the American Red Cross, was called into conference with Acting Secretary of State Cotton to consider relief measures for the stricken city.

While the conference proceeded, the state department received a report that widespread destruction was caused by the hurricane in the city of Santo Domingo and its suburbs yesterday.

The report came from American Minister Charles S. Curtis, who asked the American Red Cross to rush relief to the island. This request immediately was transmitted to Red Cross headquarters here.

The Curtis telegram was the first received from the hurricane section since communications were cut off yesterday afternoon. It said that while Santo Domingo city had suffered extensively, the loss of life appeared small.

No report had been received by the Dominican legation as to the extent of the damage in the interior of the country.

Curtis added that he and the Dominican president had agreed to ask the American Red Cross to rush supplies, food, light clothing, shelter equipment, medicine and sanitary units. Acting Secretary of State Cotton called Red Cross officials by telephone, informed them of the situation and asked them to do everything possible to expedite the requested relief.

Report Laguna Fire Now Under Control

U. S. VETERANS PUSH WORK ON 10 HOSPITALS

They are: Vicinity of Albuquerque, N. M.; Huntington, W. Va.; Canandaigua, N. Y.; Lincolnville, Kansas; Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Indianapolis, Ind.; and Waco, Texas. Definite selection of the sites will be announced soon.

In the case of the California hospital, a survey now is under way with the probability it will be built near San Francisco.

Preliminary surveys have been made in Utah but no site has been selected. A second hospital is to be built in New York city.

The hospitals planned range from a 400 bed structure for Western New York to a 75 bed hospital for Utah. Most of the buildings will have more than 200 beds. In addition to 10 of its existing hospitals.

More applications for medical treatment are being received now than this bureau can accommodate in its own hospitals, and many veterans have been placed in other institutions under contract.

The bureau is obliged to treat all World War veterans suffering from service disabilities and is authorized to those of other wars when facilities are available.

CONTESTED DIVORCE ACTION IS HEARD

A contested divorce case is being tried today before Judge James L. Allen in department two of superior court, with Lloyd F. Benton seeking to prevent his wife, Hanna M. Benton, from securing the decree for which she sued, and asking the court to grant him the decree.

Mrs. Benton charged cruel and inhuman treatment in her complaint and alleged that her husband was extremely jealous. Her husband alleged extreme cruelty. There are three children in the family.

Alex P. Nelson is attorney for Mrs. Benton and Raymond Ray is representing her husband.

Planners Discuss Routine Matters

Routine matters of business were discussed today at the regular meeting of the Orange county planning commission, which was held at the court house. Several matters that the board has under consideration were briefly discussed. Plans are being made for the public hearing on the sub-division regulations which is set for October 5.

HEART BALM IS ESTIMATED AT $3500 BY JURY

Although she asked $100,000 as heart balm for a blasted romance resulting from the alleged refusal of Delmar Woodward, former Placentia orange grower, to marry her at Riverside in November 1927 after the license had been secured, the jury which heard the evidence in the case yesterday afternoon returned a verdict awarding Mrs. Lulu May Scott, of Anaheim, damages in the amount of $3500.

In spite of the fact that Woodward, his brother and brother's wife all testified that Mrs. Scott was the one who refused to proceed with the wedding at Riverside, the jury chose to believe the story of the attractive grass widow who asserted that Woodward refused to marry her after a minister had refused to perform the ceremony on the ground that she was a divorced woman. She also told of the gift of $2000 from Woodward after the incident at Riverside and examination of the defendant on the witness stand revealed that he borrowed the money for this purpose. It was contended by attorneys for Mrs. Scott that he would not have done this if she had been the one who refused to proceed with the wedding.

The jury received the case yesterday morning and returned with the verdict late in the afternoon. Franklin G. West was associated with attorneys for the plaintiff.

Woodward had filed a cross-complaint asking $150,000 for the alleged refusal of Mrs. Scott to marry him.

Woodward was a party in another case in superior court today when he was awarded a judgment for $1194.10 by Judge James L. Allen after trial of the complaint he had filed against E. J. Cook. A note which Woodward had signed with Cook and Cook was said to have failed to pay was the basis of the action.

Huntington Beach Oil Man Killed In Kettleman Field

Word of the death of W. H. Griffin, 42, well known Huntington Beach oil man, in the Kettleman Hills field yesterday, has been received in the beach city. Griffin was fatally injured when struck on the head by a broken elevator chain.

Mr. Griffin is survived by his widow and two sons, James and Wilber. The family resides at 418 Elmira street, Huntington Beach. The body is being brought to Huntington Beach for burial.

Looking back into ancient history I find a little food for thought. Whoever wrote: "The ways of the transgressor are hard," didn't know anything about watchmaking. Is this a deliberate misprint, or a typographical error?

a "more splendid step toward world peace."

The German fliers, just returned from Chicago, sat down beside Costa and Bellonte and chatted affably with them in French. Lindbergh was asked to make a speech, but declined with his customary modesty, saying later that the occasion was in honor of the other fliers, not himself.

The renewed friendship that has sprung up between America's foremost air idol and the two Frenchmen has been one of the most interesting highlights of the last two days. Although the noted colonel has tried to keep himself in the background, his efforts to return the warm welcome he received in France have revealed an unusually enthusiastic and demonstrative face in his personality, and it has delighted not only the distinguished visitors, but all New York as well.

To show that the high regard was mutual, the Frenchmen gave Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh a dinner last night, to which only a handful of close friends were invited.

Harry Lewis will address members of the Santa Ana Realty board tomorrow noon at Ketter's cafe, speaking on agricultural conditions in South America. Lewis recently returned from a tour of that continent. Carl Mock will be in charge of the program.

REJECTION OF WILLARD BIDS TO BE SOUGHT

Following the endorsement of the Santa Ana Exchange club, the Santa Ana Kiwanis club and the expected endorsement of the Santa Ana Lions club of a proposed bond issue for the purchase of the Frances Willard junior high school site, as possible civic center property, plans were under way today to ask the Santa Ana board of education to reject all bids for the property and wait until the city could purchase the site if the bond election carried, it was made known today.

The school board is expected to meet September 9 to open bids for the property and if the board can agree to reject bids at this time, it will not be necessary for Santa Ana business men to underwrite the proposition, as per a plan which was announced in the Register Tuesday.

Sixteen prominent business men, whose names were not disclosed, proposed to underwrite the amount of money needed for the purchase of the site, in order to preserve the property for the city of Santa Ana, to be used later at no profit to them. It is understood now, however, that the school board will not need the money for a period of six weeks and that a bond election could be held by that time.

All service clubs in the city are being asked to endorse the bond issue. The Santa Ana Exchange club endorsed it Tuesday, and the Kiwanis club went on record of endorsing the idea at its meeting held yesterday. The Santa Ana Lions club was to act on the proposition today at noon.

MEXICAN HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Jesús Ordiz, Placentia Mexican, charged with the murder of Emma Chavez, was held to answer to the superior court without bail at the conclusion of his preliminary examination in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning.

Ordiz is asserted to have cut the woman's throat as the two lay in a bed in an apartment house at Placentia on the morning of June 19.

After the woman was killed, Ordiz turned a pistol on himself inflicting wounds which kept him in the hospital until several days ago when he was removed to the county jail.

The prisoner did not testify at the hearing. He was represented by W. Maxwell Burke.

CULVER CITY, Sept. 4.—Leroy Haynes, claimant to the Arizona heavyweight championship, will take on Ernie Owens of Los Angeles in an eight-round feature event here tonight.

DRUGGIST INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

J. Leonard Robeson, 25, druggist of 2408 Redondo boulevard, Los Angeles, suffered a broken right leg and severe cuts and bruises at 12:45 a. m. today, when the automobile in which he was riding collided with a car driven by A. H. Jamison, of Santa Ana Route No. 4.

The accident occurred almost directly in front of the Orange County hospital at the intersection of the Santa Ana boulevard and West Chapman avenue.

Robeson was taken to the hospital by Bill Jones and Lee Williamson, asserted witnesses to the crash. No one in the Jamison car was reported hurt.

Supposed Bandits Given Discharges

Three Mexican youths arrested by sheriff's officers as suspects in the holdup of the restaurant of Bob Cavanaugh, Sunday night, at Westminster, were discharged when Cavanaugh said they were not the bandits who entered his place.

Cavanaugh is confined to his home with a pistol ball in his right hip. He resisted the efforts of the bandits to loot his cash register and one of them fired a shot through the pocket of his coat, the bullet striking Cavanaugh. He is not seriously hurt.

CANDIDATES FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNTS

Statements of expense relative to the primary election were filed today by four more candidates. B. E. Tarver, candidate as Democratic county central committee man, and S. M. Reinhaus, candidate for a similar position in the Republican party, filed statements showing that no money had been expended.

Jesse L. Elliott showed expenses of $98.50 in the race that resulted in his re-election as one of the two assistants for Santa Ana township. Cornish J. Roehm, one of the contenders for constable of Santa Ana township who secured a nomination and place on the ticket at the election next fall, spent $182.76 in the race, according to his statement.

CHAPTER 30

As if his arm were almost too heavy with weariness to lift, Jimmy pressed the buzzer, and sent the answering copy boy for de Lamoth. When Lammie entered, the city editor had pulled his eye-shade far down over his head and sat with bowed head, leaning one elbow on the table. He glanced up briefly at the unexpectedness of Peter's first question.

"Were you in the war, Lammie?" Peter asked as the door swung shut behind de Lamoth.

"I never got out of training camp—why?"

"Have you got a .45 Colt automatic army pistol?"

"No—yes—I dunno. Maybe it's kicking around somewhere. What's the big idea? Do you want it?"

"Maybe," Peter said non-committally. "Say, de Lamoth, I hate this like hell, so make it easy. Where did you get that emerald ring?"

"I haven't got any emerald ring. What is this, anyway—an intelligence test?" Peter noted that de Lamoth's Adam's apple jerked spasmodically up and down. He spoke with an uneasy anger.

"You'd better answer him, Jimmy said without looking up."

"I don't know what you're talking about!" de Lamoth protested. But the protest was too quick, too violent.

"I'm talking about a ring with the initials 'de la M' on the top and two big emeralds on each side. You pawned it at Izzy's?" Peter threw him the words as an aid. At least he would not hold out on Lammie, leading him on to lie unnecessarily and futilely. "You'd better spill it."

De Lamoth's face was clammy in its pallor. He passed his hand across his blood-shot eyes.

"Say, are you by any chance butting into my private affairs?" he blurted. "If so, I won't stand for it, from you or anybody else!"

"Tell him, Lammie," Jimmy's voice was almost inaudible. The green eyeshade hid the expression of his face.

"Well, then, if you must know, it was given to me."

"When?"

"About a month ago."

"While you were taking time off to visit your sick aunt?" The words were gentle, without irony.

De Lamoth leaned back against the door, his lips stubbornly closed. Jimmy lifted his head. His eyes were infinitely tender, infinitely sad.

"I'd like you to tell the truth—as a favor to me," he said.

De Lamoth's hair clung damply to his forehead. He ignored Peter and turned to Jimmy.

"I lied to you," he said unsteadily. "I lied to keep my job. There wasn't any sick aunt. I was drunk."

"I knew that," Jimmy's head sank again to his hand.

"You knew it?"

"My God, I wasn't born yesterday!" Jimmy spoke with a ghost of his old fire.

"But you said—"

"Never mind what I said. I don't care whether you were drunk or not—at least, not that much. Where did you get this ring?"

"It was given to me."

"Better go slow—think it over before you answer," Peter suggested.

"I said, it was given to me." De Lamoth whirled on Peter with a belligerent stare. "I say, have you been spying on me, Piper—or what?"

"We'll leave it at 'what' for a moment. Do you mean that somebody just walked up and handed you a ring worth God knows how many hundreds of dollars?"

"I don't know what it's worth—I didn't get much for it from Izzy, I know that," de Lamoth said sulkily. "If you're not going to believe me, we might as well stop right here."

"We can't stop, whether I believe you or not. I'm doing my best to help you to be careful. I think you'd better tell me why it was given to you. And if you think I like this any better than you do, you're mistaken!"

"I don't know what you're making all this fuss about. But if you want to know, it was given to me because the initials are the same as mine."

Peter's hand was raised in a swift gesture of protest, as if to stop the words, but he was too late.

"But they aren't the same as yours!" "Oh, yes, they are—now what are you going to do about it?" "I've seen the ring. The initials on it are 'de la Ma,'" Peter said steadily.

"And my name was originally de la Mothe—it's been shortened in transit to de Lamoth." De Lamoth's pale lips drew back in a smile that was almost a snarl.

"And I'm getting more and more curious to know, what's it to you? I'm feeling rotten this morning—I'd like to get back to work."

"Look here, Lammie, there's no use taking it like that," Peter turned to the angry face above him with a winning smile. "I hope to God that you've got a beastly hang-over this morning. I hope so, because it's possible that you've been nothing worse than drunk. This is something a darn sight more serious. That ring ties up with something I'm working on. And that something is murder."

Peter wanted to look away. For de Lamoth's thin frame began to shake from head to foot.

"I couldn't have—I never—" he stammered through chattering teeth.

"Buck up!" Peter said sharply. A possible explanation of de Lamoth's collapse had leaped to his mind.

"This man wasn't killed in a drunken brawl. If you did it, you'd know it all right. But the ring belonged to the dead man. Now will you tell me where you got it?"

Still shaking, de Lamoth drew himself erect.

"No," he said. "I won't."

"I warn you, for your own sake, you'd better. And I'll tell you this much—Jimmy will go to the bat for you, whatever you've done."

De Lamoth's trembling lips straightened in a thin, sharp line. He made a pitiful effort to recover his blustering animosity.

"Are you trying to give me the third degree?" he asked scornfully.

"No," Peter said. "I'm trying to keep you from getting it. You know what would happen to you if you got into Morton's hands. If you were run in on an open charge for twenty-four hours, that twenty-four hours would be enough to settle Morton's score."

"I don't believe," de Lamoth said meditatively, "that any one before ever tried to scare me into something yellow."

"Oh, hell!" Peter's burst of impatience cleared the air like a flash of lightning. "Show some sense—be yourself—snap out of it! If somebody handed you that ring because it had your initials on it, it's a cinch he didn't know its value, and didn't know that it had anything to do with the murder. If he did, he'd have hung on to it, and not handed it around like something out of the ten cent store. You might just as well tell who it was, and have done with it. Because I'm out on this story, and I'm going to get it!"

The silence lasted so long that Peter leaned back, fearing that his final appeal had failed.

"It's not this other guy you're looking for, then?" de Lamoth asked at length. "I won't be getting him into trouble?"

"I don't know who I'm looking for!" Peter acknowledged.

De Lamoth's Adam's apple worked up and down several times before he spoke again.

"Well, I don't know why I should not tell you. I wanted to keep it from Jimmy, but I guess that's no go. We were both on a jag—a regular whopper. Ben Ryder took me over to his place and we had a few drinks, and then—I don't know where we went after that, but we just kept going. Sometime or other Ryder began to razz me about the handle to my name, and I told him that it really had a double handle. He pulled this ring out of his pocket and gave it to me. He said he never wore it, because the initials didn't match."

"Ben Ryder works on the Times, doesn't he?" Jimmy looked up to ask.

"He did then, but he doesn't now. We used to be on the Telegram together, a couple of years ago. But Ben's a regular wanderer. Two months on one job is just about his limit."

"Do you know where he is now?" Peter enquired.

"I haven't the ghost of an idea. He got fired from the Times for not showing up at the office while we were on our spree. I guess the Times doesn't take kindly to dying aunts."

"He gave you the ring—and then beat it," Peter said slowly. He did not express aloud the other thought in his mind—that if de Lamoth had not told the truth about getting the ring from Ryder, he had made his story extraordinarily difficult to check or disprove. By this time, Ryder might be—almost anywhere.

"By the way, what has the war got to do with it?" de Lamoth asked, suddenly recalling Peter's first question.

"The World War?" Peter dragged his attention back from far distances. "Oh, yes, it was a .45 Colt automatic that did the killing."

"Well, if you send a dick to search my place, he'll probably find it. Things like that do happen," de Lamoth said with an odd hopelessness.

Jimmy's eyeshade was jerked upward until it tilted rakishly over one ear.

"Who's talking about dicks?" he stormed. "The police aren't in on this. You'd better—"

"I know," de Lamoth interrupted. "I'd better go to the cashier for my money. You warned me, and I've no kick coming."

"Will you stop putting words into my mouth? Who said anything about the cashier? I'll do my own firing in this office, as long as I'm city editor, and when I get ready to let you go, I'll tell you. As I was about to say, you'd better get back to your desk—and you'll find a bottle of bromo seltzer on the shelf of my locker. Go and take it—and I hope it sizzles up your nose till you sneeze to death. Maybe that'll teach you to lay off bootleg."

Jimmy was still sputtering as the door closed behind the retreating Lammie.

"Here's where I want some of that money," Peter said. "I've got to send about seventy-five telegrams over the state, and see if I can't find Ryder. Can't send 'em collect, either, worse luck."

"You bet you'll find Ryder," Jimmy ordered. "You'll find him, if you have to send seventy-five thousand telegrams, and if it's the last thing you do on earth!"

A. B. SWANSON IS MANAGER OF WARD CONCERN

A. B. Swanson, Huntington Park man, has arrived in Santa Ana to take charge of the Santa Ana store of Montgomery Ward and company. He assumed his new duties on September 1, taking the place of Martin Vaughn, who has been temporarily in charge of the store.

Swanson has been with the Montgomery Ward organization since 1920. He was traveling representative and merchandise superintendent for the past six months out of the Huntington Park district office, and prior to that was district manager in Southern California.

Swanson has moved his family to Santa Ana and expects to make this his home in the future, he said. He said there would be no change in policy at the store, except that the store would specialize more heavily on several lines of goods.

TIRE COVERS TO ADVERTISE COUNTY FAIR

In order to put the dates of the Orange county fair in the minds of the public the fair board has announced that free tire covers, boosting the fair, will be given away at the grounds each day except Sunday, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. A large number of tire covers and bumper strips has been secured for distribution. The fair and rodeo will open on September 30 and will run to October 5.

According to the announcement the covers and strips are free one to a car or two to a car where the bumper strip can be used in front. The tire covers fit any size tire. This year's fair and rodeo will be one of the best ever held at the local grounds, it is said. The later date, combined with the great new attractions at the rodeo and on the midway are said to assure the fair a huge attendance and a wonderful show. The main feature exhibit tent is to be full of the products of the county.

NEW MANAGER

Dee Cook, below, has been appointed manager of the Roy J. Lyon Tire and Service company here to succeed Roy Lyon, founder of the business, who today announced his resignation as manager. Lyon will devote himself to handling a large holding of oil land near Porterville.

LYON RETIRES AS FIRESTONE MANAGER HERE

Announcement of the retirement of Roy J. Lyon as general manager of the Roy J. Lyon Tire and Service company, one of the largest businesses of its kind in Orange county, was made today.

Lyon, who organized the business here in September, 1922, in a little house at First and Main streets, 15 by 20 feet in size, has seen his business grow until it now covers 18,500 square feet of space at First and Main streets, with equipment worth more than $25,000.

The announcement of the retirement from the tire business was made by Lyon at the same time he announced that he would not be in the rubber business in the future but that he would lend his efforts to the development of 300 acres of oil lands which he owns near Terra Bella, eight miles south of Porterville.

In proven territory, Lyon said that he already had leased 140 acres of the land to the Western Oil and Refining company, of Los Angeles, and that drilling operations would start there within the next few days. He expects to subdivide the other 160 acres of land adjoining and lease it in small quantities for the drilling of oil.

Lyon's business in Santa Ana has grown in leaps and bounds since it was organized in 1922. Agent for the Firestone tire, he owned the entire business until September 1928, when it was incorporated. Since that time vast improvements have been made to handle the tire and service business of the organization including the installation of the latest known equipment.

Dee Cook, well known Santa Ana tire and oil man here for the past several years, will succeed Lyon as manager of the plant, it was announced.

Cook has for the past year and a half been territory representative for the Firestone Rubber company and prior to that was connected with the General Petroleum corporation and the Standard Oil company. He is one of the leading younger business men of the city and particularly well known in the rubber game here.

In talking of his business today, Lyon recalled the fact that when he first started here, the standard tire was the 32x4 size and that it sold for $54.19. Today the same tire sells for $12.15, he said. The $59.19 tire was only guaranteed for 4,000 miles.

There will be no change in the policy of the business under the new management, it was announced. The firm name will not be changed.

Lyon stated that he intended keeping his residence in Santa Ana in the future.

W. H. Bonta, of San Diego, a salesman, was given a 90-day suspended jail sentence, was ordered not to use his car for anything but business for the period of one year and was told to send $25 a month to the justice court until $250 had been paid. He was arrested near Newport Beach on the Coast highway by Lloyd Groover, state officer, Sunday night.

E. D. Brown, of Newport Beach, also arrested by Groover over the highway, near Newport Beach, was fined $250 after a charge of driving while intoxicated was reduced to reckless driving.

TWO MEN FINED ON DRIVING CHARGES

Two men, arrested on charges of driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor in the county over the recent holiday were each fined $250 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning.

The first claim of the H. W. Rohl company, contractor for the work on the Ortega highway, was allowed yesterday afternoon in the sum of $22,893.21 at the regular meeting of the board of directors of joint highway district No. 15 which is in charge of the road project which is to unite San Juan Capistrano and Eslinore.

A progress report was made to the board by the engineer, A. C. Fulmer, of Riverside. Those attending the meeting yesterday were the directors, T. C. Jamieson, chairman of the Riverside county board of supervisors, Supervisor George Jeffrey, and Frank B. Champion, of Laguna Beach; L. W. Blodgett, attorney for the district, and P. N. Hood, assistant secretary.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Loenhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. McCoy Drug Stores and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee—Adv.

SCHOOL BOOK OF 1876 OWNED BY SETH PERKINS

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—Seth Perkins of this city has in his possession a most interesting book in which educational methods of a half century ago are shown. The book is composed of examination papers of pupils of the ninth grade in the year of 1876 and formed a part of an educational exhibit, at the Centennial at Philadelphia held that year.

Perkins' father was the late D. G. Perkins and was commissioner of education for Iowa at the Centennial and for many years was county superintendent of schools of Polk county, Iowa.

The examination questions were based on a half year's study of White's geography, a text book used extensively at that time. The children whose Spenserian writing graces the pages of the book on an average would now be nearing 70 years of age, as the average age of the pupils represented was 14 years, with the youngest a little miss of 11 and the oldest a lad of 19.

The examination took place February 11, in a room where 111 pupils seated their feet. A tin pail and dipper in the corridor gave the girls and boys the opportunity to raise their hands countless times a day with the request "Please, teacher, may I get a drink?"

All of the examination papers are preceded by maps many of them colored with chalk, hues of which are unfaded. The paper on which the examination questions were answered are white and unbroken but the ink is faded and brown.

The state of Iowa is described from every standpoint and among the startling information to be found is that given by Fannie Randall, who says that prairies of the state were caused by fires.

Lulu Dixon makes a strong defense of the state and declares that everyone should be proud of Iowa and that it should not be run down by eastern states, for she says, "it will soon be the east."

Perhaps the most amusing statement found in the papers is that made by Emil Berger, who tells of lumbering and who declares that raftmen float down the rivers until they are sold and are cut in convenient sizes and sent to other states.

New Buildings For Beach Area

CAPISTRANO BEACH, Sept. 4.—With the sale of the sanitary district bonds cleared away, a spirit of progress has hit "old San Juan By the Sea." Marie Tullis is building six three-room bungalows with bath at her auto camp on the highway. A district will be formed for the paving and lighting of the highway from curb to curb. The buildings at the intersection of Roosevelt and inland highways are enclosed and when completed will make an attractive appearance to what was a barren piece of land.

EXPLAINS WAR INDEMNITY OF LOSING NATION

After outlining political changes in Europe following the World war and listing economic provisions of the peace treaties, whereby Germany was to turn over to the Allies large quantities of goods, ships and property rights, L. L. Beeman, instructor at the Santa Ana Junior college, speaking over KREG last night, outlined the methods whereby payments on Germany's large indemnity were arranged. His talk, in part, follows:

"Germany was required to pay a large indemnity. On the question of how much she should pay the Allies could not agree. It was finally agreed that Germany should pay all that it was possible for her to pay but no specific amount was named and no time set when the payments should stop. A commission was appointed to investigate and determine the amount Germany could pay. In January 1921 before the Reparations Commission was to report, and three months before the total $5,000,000,000 was due, Germany and the Allies clashed over this payment. The Reparations Commission on March 22, 1921, declared Germany was in default in her payments. The Allied Prime Ministers, led by Lloyd George ordered the seizure of the great industrial cities of Düsseldorf and Duisburg. Thus Germany was declared in default in her payments and her punishment began two months before the time allowed her in which was to make the payments expired and two months before she was allowed to know what the amount of her reparations was.

"During the Peace Conference some delegates wanted to fix the reparations at $120,000,000,000, others at about $60,000,000,000. The Reparations Commission fixed it at $31,000,000,000 and interest at three per cent. This figure was three times the amount recommended by the experts at the Peace Conference. Germany protested vigorously, exclaiming she could never pay the amounts assessed against her. The Allies gave Germany an ultimatum that she must immediately accept the bill and begin payments or the Allied armies would occupy the Ruhr valley. On May 11, 1921 Germany accepted. In December, 1921, Germany informed the Allies that she would not be able to meet her next payment and asked for a partial suspension of payments, which was granted. In January, 1922, the mild and compromising Briand was replaced by the uncompromising Poincaré as Prime Minister of France. The people of France wanted the reparation payments. In December the Reparations Commission declared Germany in default again. In January 1923 the French and Belgians occupied the Ruhr valley, the richest spot in Germany. England refused to sanction and take part in this occupation. The Germans in this region refused to co-operate with the French and they failed to get the reparations expected.

"France was depending upon the German payments but making the conditions impossible for Germany to make the payments.

"Of course it must be kept in mind that Germany did not want to pay and was trying to get out of all she could. She was using the 'cry baby' tactics too much. But France and the world found out again that there are better ways to accomplish international ends than by force.

"This policy of strangling German industry and the occupation of the Ruhr brought Germany to the verge of bankruptcy. As France depended on these payments for her support, the franc declined and bankruptcy began to stare her in the face. In 1924 the French elections repudiated Poincaré's plan. Briand was restored to the ministry. Then experts were given a chance. What is known as the Dawes committee or the Expert committee of which Mr. Dawes, of the United States, was chairman, was appointed to investigate and recommend a plan to save Germany and the Allied cause. In order to save the Allies, especially France, Belgium and England, Germany had to be saved. The problem is no longer a military problem but an economic, a financial problem.

"This Expert committee was to determine what amount Germany could pay annually at the present time and how it could be paid but not determine the total amount she should pay.

"These experts laid down some fundamental principles and then proceeded to make their plans on those principles. The following are some of the principles laid down: "1. The taxes in Germany should at least be equal to the taxes in the Allied countries.

"2. The German debt burden should be at least as heavy as in the Allied countries.

"3. Germany's ability to pay depends upon a stable currency, a balanced budget, economic productivity, and the confidence and willingness of the German people to work.

"4. That Germany could not be economically productive nor the people willing to work as long as France interfered in their economic life and especially in the Ruhr.

"5. Military occupation must not interfere with German economic activities.

"Then they made the following recommendations:

"1. For the year 1924-25 Germany should pay $250,000,000. That this amount be increased each year for five years so that the payment in 1928-29 should be $625,000,000.

"2. The German currency should be stabilized and the German budget be balanced. In order to do this foreign countries should loan Germany $200,000,000 and the German government should stop issuing paper money.

"3. Half these reparation payments are to be paid out of current taxes and half out of the revenues raised by German railways and certain industries. (It should be noted that all railroads in Germany are owned by the government.)

"4. The principal and interest on the bonds by which Germany borrowed the money was to be secured by the earnings from the railroads and certain industries and a transport tax.

"5. The administration of the economic and financial affairs of Germany to insure the working and carrying out of these plans were put under alien expert management.

"6. The Ruhr valley was to be evacuated by the Allied soldiers.

"7. A new bank of issue be established but under alien control.

"8. All future disputes on reparations shall be settled by arbitration.

"9. The payments can be reduced any year her finances should demand it.

"Two things are interesting and new about this plan:

"1. France demanded guarantees that Germany would keep her agreement and keep up the payments. She expected some kind of military guarantee and refused to withdraw from the Ruhr till she had the guarantees. The expert's plan provided a guarantee but totally different from what France expected and what has always been used in the past. Instead of guarantees imposed by force they were financial guarantees based on a system of pledged revenues and international control.

"2. The second unusual thing is that no great country has ever accepted this form of foreign control over its financial and industrial life. Germany accepted it because it was the price of recovering the Ruhr and her normal position in the world.

"In order to prevent any one wealthy country making all this loan of $200,000,000 to Germany and thus getting a strong hold on her financial and industrial systems which might be used to the detriment of other countries, it was decided that several different countries should share in the loan. The United States took the largest

PHILCO BUILDS NEW MODELS IN RADIO SERIES

With the placing into production of two new models, the Baby Grand and the Concert Grand, Philco manufactures the world's most complete line of radios. It was announced by L. M. Turner, Santa Ana dealer for Philco radios.

Turner draws attention to the fact that Philco manufactures a radio for every purse and home. "The Baby Grand," Turner points out, "is a complete 7-tube screen grid Philco receiver, equipped with a new electro-dynamic speaker, built into a compact but handsome little Gothic cabinet of walnut which fits into the modern small room. This new model is only 17 1/2 inches high and 16 inches wide at the base.

"Space is at a premium today," declares Turner. "The Baby Grand fits perfectly into the small room. Although it is small in size, its performance is up to the high standard for which the larger Philco models are famous.

"The Concert Grand is a deluxe combination phonograph and radio set built into an over-sized cabinet which is so designed with recessed sides that it fits into the corner of a room without occupying more than the ordinary size cabinet.

"Sound waves are thrown into the room by the heaviest, largest, and most scientifically designed baffle board now on the market. This acoustically perfect baffle board, measuring 12 square feet, makes perfect tone.

"The radio receiver is a 9-tube screen grid-plus chassis. Tone control, the Philco innovation which permits the set owner to regulate the tone of reception in accordance with personal taste regulates not only the radio reception but also the phonograph recording," concludes Turner.

MACON'S FAMILY GATHERING

There was a happy reunion in the Stribling family of Macon, Ga., recently when "Pa" and "Young" returned home from Europe, where they flattened Phil Scott in a London bout. The photo below shows the entire Stribling family and includes, left to right, "Pa"; Clara, Stribling's wife; Mary Virginia, Stribling's little girl; Young Stribling; "Ma," and W. ### JO CRUICKSHANK HOME FROM EASTERN TENNIS TOUR; WILL PLAY IN SOUTHWEST TOURNEY

Bearing new won laurels with her usual modesty, Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana's young tennis star and one of the nation's ranking women players, was back home today from an extended campaign in Eastern tournaments during which she won the National Intercollegiate singles championship without the loss of a set.

She was met in Los Angeles by Tyn, Berkeley Bell and Gregory driven home by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, who are keenly interested in tennis themselves and are patrons of the Pacific Southwest tournament. Southern California classic opening in Los Angeles September 19, in which Miss Cruickshank will compete next.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Sprinters should not try to rope horses. . . . Frank Wykoff, running from a fishing trip in Washington, with a friend decided to rope a couple of broncs and ride. . . . Frank roped one and was riding it after the other when the latter lashed out with a pair of accurate heels and caught Wykoff on the leg. . . . That was the second time the left leg has been broken. . . . Coach Howard Jones will have just 13 men with letters when the football boys start practice. . . . #### SPORTSMANSHIP

The other night at a banquet in Chicago, Knute Rockne gave about as good a definition of sportsmanship as I ever heard. "Sportsmanship," said the Notre Dame coach, "is a practical application of the Golden Rule. It is difficult to define precisely in words. It must be understood." Rockne went on to cite what he regarded as an example of sportsmanship. The incident occurred during the Northwestern-Notre Dame game last fall. "One of the Notre Dame players had suffered a torn cartilage of the ribs," said Rockne. "Before the game Northwestern's trainer walked into our quarters with a special appliance for the protection of the injury. "As the lineman crouched for the opening scrimmage of the game,

S. A. HAS FINE GRID SCHEDULE Stars, Colton Begin All Over Again

BIG SERIES IS EVEN: MERRILL OUT OF GAME

Right back where the "little world series" started, Santa Ana and Colton mingle in the Santa Ana Bowl again tomorrow night, each hopeful of obtaining an edge in the conflict for the Southern California night baseball championship.

Colton won the first game, playing on a strange lot and using a ball that was larger than the agate it had been employing all season.

When the Reds got away with that so impressively, the wise guys said it was all over but the shooting and that the American league champions stood a good chance of sweeping the series in four straight games.

Stars Come Right Back Then Santa Ana came right back on the unfamiliar Colton battlefield and won just as impressively while utilizing a sphere that was just as strange to them as the National league's pill had been to Colton opening night.

Now the critics are all up in the air, and admit it. They say the series is merely a toss-up and the club that gets the breaks will win. Regular football season stuff, as it were.

Santa Ana, however, now rates as a slight favorite. If Herb Salveson's henchmen get over the hump Friday they may have the team to keep right on going and never be stopped.

The Stars outfielded the Reds in both games. So far the National league winners haven't made an error while Colton has blundered six times, losing the second game as a direct result of its misuses.

Santa Ana has broken even in

Sandtrap Is Put On Golf Course Green

A sandtrap in the middle of a green will be a novel feature on one of the three new holes which the Willowick Golf club will open Saturday morning, September 13.

This unusual green will be on the new No. 7, a 510-yard hole and the longest one of the entire course. Having a trap in the middle of the green is a plan employed on a few eastern courses. The Wilshire Country club is said to be the only course in Southern California with such a hole.

M'GRAW SIGNS TO LEAD GIANT CLUB 5 YEARS

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—John J. McGraw has signed a contract to manage the New York Giants for five more years, and harmony apparently has been restored among the owners and officials of the club.

With McGraw absent from the team for many weeks, many conflicting reports were circulated about the state of affairs among the Giants' officials and McGraw's future plans.

To quiet these rumors, Charles A. Stoneham, president and principal stockholder of the club, officially announced yesterday: 1.—That McGraw had signed a five-year contract, beginning in 1931.

2.—That McGraw's absence from the club was due to ill health.

The other reasons why the Americans lost their final matches in the Davis cup play, according to this frank-spoken, Czechoslovakian wizard of tennis, were:

Allison Was Tired Wilmer Allison was "tired" and played badly.

American tennis stars are educated to grass courts and the French courts are clay.

The American team saw, played and thought too much tennis before the Davis cup finals.

"It is best to take two weeks rest before taking part in an important match," said Kozeluh.

Kozeluh does not see much chance of the United States lifting the tennis cup from France for many years.

"Rene La Coete will return to play in the singles for France next year, I think," he said. "And with Cochet it will be too much unless Tilden gets over that mental hazard."

LONG CITY LEAGUE SEASON NEARS END

A long, drawn out Santa Ana City league season of incandescent baseball staggers two games nearer its close tonight when Peek's market meets the Richfield Oil company at 6:45 and the Eastern Oil company engages the Dennis Printers at 8:15.

Two other games were cleared out of the way last night when the Orange County Builders' exchange defeated the Courthouse, 10 to 6, and the American Legion won by forfeit from the Auto Club of Orange County.

A seemingly popular fault among many golfers is the restriction they place on the action of their feet and legs as they make their swing for a full shot. For some reason or other, they attempt to keep the left foot flat on the ground throughout the stroke. And this is wrong.

On the backswing, the left heel should rise off the ground, but no more than is necessary to permit the ball of the foot to stay on the ground. At the same time, the left knee "breaks" or bends, pointing inward and downward directly toward the ball on the tee.

As the club reaches the end of the backswing, the left foot comes down to the ground again, the knee straightens and the body weight that has shifted from the left to the right foot in the backswing begins to swing to the left once more.

While this may be only a sketchy picture of leg and foot action, it brings out the point I wish to make—that the left foot

KOZEULH SAYS 'NERVES' BEAT TILDEN AT NET

BY DAVID P. SENTNER (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

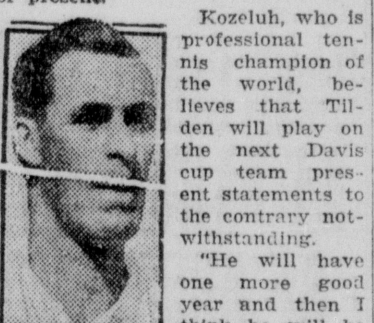

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—William T. Tilden is a better tennis player than Henri Cochet but he has an attack of "nerves" whenever he faces the French flash on the court. This was given today by Carl Kozeluh, coach of the American Davis cup team, as one of the reasons why the famous tennis trophy remained overseas.

"Tilden's mental hazard against Cochet probably comes from that match against Cochet at Wimbledon in 1927," said Kozeluh in an interview. "Tilden was leading two sets to nothing and had only two more points to make to walk away with the match. The score was 6-2, 6-3, 5-1 and thirty-love, in favor of Bill.

Mental Hazard Claimed

"And Cochet took the match.

"Ever since then Tilden is beaten when he faces Cochet even before he starts. And Tilden is the best player in the world. Cochet plays the same game all the time but Tilden has variety and the greatest ground strokes of any player past or present."

Bill Tilden finished," he said.

The other reasons why the Americans lost their final matches in the Davis cup play, according to this frank-spoken, Czechoslovakian wizard of tennis, were:

Allison Was Tired

Wilmer Allison was "tired" and played badly.

American tennis stars are educated to grass courts and the French courts are clay.

The American team saw, played and thought too much tennis before the Davis cup finals.

"It is best to take two weeks rest before taking part in an important match," said Kozeluh.

JIM WOODS RESIGNS FROM BOXING BOARD

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—James Woods announced today he had placed his resignation as chairman of the state athletic commission in the hands of Governor C. C. Young and that its acceptance was expected within two weeks.

Woods' resignation, it was learned, was received by the governor August 2 but the acceptance was delayed pending selection of his successor.

The Los Angeles man's action was not unexpected, as he had stated several times in recent months that business affairs took most of his time and he could not properly attend to his public duties.

I guess it is none of my business what Promoter Henry T. Foust does at his San Bernardino boxing club, but I can't help wondering whether he sends washed-up Johnny Adams to the post ever now and then.

Glass-chinned Milford Berglund pushed Adams over in three heats the other night. Even Jimmie Rivers, who never knocks anybody out, kayoed Adams here last winter.

I really am afraid Adams won't wake up after one of these knockouts.

Clown fights are now the rage everywhere. "Society Red" Millet started something when he toured the coast a few months ago. These funny men now have a reg-

HERNANDEZ-FOX BOUT TONIGHT HARD TO DOPE; PICK CHARLES TO DEFEAT GILMORE IN SEMI

In just about the hardest bout of the entire year to dope with any degree of accuracy, Urban Hernandez, popular Placentia 135-pounder, breaks onto the front page of boxing tonight when he moves against Jimmy Fox in an eight-round main event at the Orange County Athletic club.

They are both able, active, agile youngsters—coming rather than going. They are both good boxers, stiff punchers.

Fox has a wide edge in experience. He has met some of Southern California's premier lightweights and only a few weeks ago gave Goldie Hess a close contest at Culver City. Hernandez, making his first main event, has not opposed that kind of class but against lesser lights has acted very much like a fine prospect.

Some of the fans actually have made Hernandez the favorite. The game little Placentia always gives the customers a real run for their money, and if he loses tonight, it is a cinch that he will go down with colors flying.

The bout promises lots of action for Promoter H. T. Foust has hinted he will bracket the winner with Bobby Reister, knockout king of Alhambra who has been knocking all the boys dead at Pasadena.

Fat Tim Charles, one of those rare heavyweights who has color, meets big Jack Gilmore, another 190-pounder, in the six-round semi. Charles is heavily favored to shellack the sometimes timid Gilmore.

Andy de la Parra and Harry Perdue open the show.

Two weeks from Saturday the biggest and brightest show on earth will pitch tents in Santa Ana, here to remain without a lull until the last drumsticks are licked Thanksgiving day.

Santa Ana has had breezy, attractive football schedules before, but none like those the junior college Dons and the high school Saints have concocted for your consumption this semester.

Beginning the third week of September there will be at least one "big shot" game at Poly field every Saturday except one until the dying days of November.

The Dons have the better of the home schedule. This was arranged quite diplomatically because the collegians, although champions of their conference, had much the worst of it last fall.

Bill Cook's club will play five successive Saturday contests at home, opposing in order, Chaffey, U. S. C. freshmen, Menlo Park, Long Beach and Compton. Only the last two are conference teams.

Coach Oliver's Saints will be on the road most of their early season so fans are hoping the two practice games with Orange and San Bernardino can be scheduled here on Fridays.

The Olivemen got a good break, however, in that two of their biggest and most important dates will be at home and with enough time in between to give the gladiators a breath or two. The Saints meet Long Beach November 15, and then remain inactive until they line up against Fullerton Thanksgiving day.

Football fans will recall that high schools and junior colleges were consolidated into one big conference this year in order to simplify schedule problems. This scheme makes it possible for the college to travel while the high schools are at home and vice versa. No longer will there be conflict in the use of the home grounds.

League schedules are printed below in full. If you are smart you will use the family shears and salt these away for future reference, and not so much future either:

LAWRENCE, Kan., Sept. 4.—The Haskell Indians will not be wanting for "beef" in their football forward wall this year. That is, they won't if Frank Miles, 332-pound tackle, realizes his hopes of making the team.

The huge player appeared from Pawhuska, Okla., yesterday and probably told Coach "Lone Star" Dietz that he had lost 18 pounds in the last 14 days by training for football.

Romeo Lemon, Fullerton schoolboy welterweight, and Bert Sampson, Los Angeles welterweight, went eight rounds to a draw in the main event here last night. Bud Baker, Long Beach motor cop, knocked out Herb Coogan in the second round of the semi-wind-

4 Escape Death In Huntington Beach Automobile Crash

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 4.—Four people narrowly escaped death when two autos were wrecked in a collision at Seventeenth street and Orange avenue late Tuesday afternoon. A pet fox terrier dog riding in one of the cars was hurled 40 feet through the air. The dog was killed.

Mrs. W. J. McClure, wife of a Standard Oil company employee with her two daughters, Dorothy, 9, and Shirley, 11, residing at 201 Tenth street, occupied one of the cars. Beside little Dorothy rode "Buddie," her pet dog. The other auto was driven and owned by Miss Dorothy Borton, of Coalinga. The crash was heard for blocks. The McClure car was completely demolished and cannot be repaired. The Borton car was badly damaged.

Cut from the wreckage of their auto, Mrs. McClure hastily extricated her two daughters. They had received only slight scratches and bruises. Mrs. McClure herself suffered minor wounds and a nervous shock. Miss Borton escaped without a scratch.

Mission Work In Alaska Is Topic

Miss Wanda Thompson being leader. The opening address and Miss Beverly Douglas led in the devotional exercises. Those present were Senior Leader Mrs. Vida Thompson, and the Misses Beverly Douglas, Mary Jean Mason, Jean King, Wanda Thompson, Mary Conwell, Marlon Hanson, Evelyn Rollins, Helen Davis, Doris McMurry, Nancy Holt, Ellen McFadden, Ann Pearce and Dorothy Dodge.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Sept. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young of 155 Jefferson street, Midway City, have returned from a 10-day trip to Sequoia national park, where they enjoyed a delightful vacation in company with Mr. and Mrs. Crowder and son, of Santa Ana. Mrs. Young is principal of Springdale school.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gortz, now of Santa Ana, returned a few days ago from an eastern honeymoon trip which covered practically all of the east. Mrs. Gortz before her marriage last June 1 was Mrs. J. R. Randall, primary teacher in the Springdale school, and Mr. Gortz was a Midway City man. While in Newport, Rhode Island, Mr. and Mrs. Gortz visited with the father of Mr. Gortz and in New York they spent some time with Miss Anna Charleston, sister of Mrs. J. W. Young, at Columbia university.

Mrs. Estella Arnett received a wire Monday night telling of the death of her only brother, Elmer Swanson, of Exeter, in an automobile accident. Mrs. Arnett and son, Wayne Arnett, left at 2 o'clock the same night for Visalia, where the funeral was being held, and will remain until after the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robinson entertained as their guests Monday, their daughter, Ruth, of Long Beach, and Dewey C. Meyers, fireman aboard the U. S. S. "Saratoga."

Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Williams and daughter, Miss Margaret Lee Williams, of Ft. Worth, Texas, who have been visiting in this state, terminated their visit Monday, when they left for their home that Miss Margaret Lee might enter school.

Mrs. Williams and Roy Robinson, of this place, are cousins and the visitors spent some time in the Robinson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert M. Gorrell entertained as guests, Dan Schwake, of Lancaster, and his brother, Paul Schwake, of San Diego, at their home over the week end.

Mrs. Hattie Miller has come to make an extended visit in the Bert M. Gorrell home.

PROPOSAL FOR CIVIC CENTER GETS SUPPORT

Unqualified endorsement of the acquisition and development of a civic center was made by the directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Members, meeting at the Chamber office today in the regular semi-monthly meeting, passed a resolution recommending that the city council study needs and opportunities of the city with regard to a civic center and assuring co-operation of the Chamber in the furtherance of any project leading to such a center.

The resolution follows: "Whereas, the city of Santa Ana has attained an enviable position among municipalities in this state, and

"Whereas, this city now requires a sufficient plant for the transaction of its business which will reflect favorably upon the city,

"Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, that this body recommend to the city council a study of the needs and opportunities of the city with regard to a civic center,

"And, Be It Further Resolved, that this body heartily co-operate with the city council in the furtherance of any project involving the acquisition and development of a civic center which the city council shall deem advisable."

CLUB SPEAKER SEES NEWPORT WINTER RESORT

NEWPORT-BALBOA, Sept. 4.—Newport bay should be an unusually attractive winter resort as well as a summer recreation center, in the opinion of A. L. Sonderegger, leading Los Angeles engineer, who is spending a vacation here.

Speaking at the weekly luncheon of the Exchange club at the Yacht club yesterday, Sonderegger said that the climate here is as good in fall and winter as in summer, and that California as a whole was better known as a winter than as a summer vacation mecca.

Switzerland at one time had only a two months tourist season, in the summer, he said, but now it has two seasons, one in the height of summer, the other in the height of winter.

S. P. Dayton, electric clock expert of Los Angeles, was another speaker at the luncheon, and told the members some of the wonders of science in electricity and time-keeping.

He pointed out that most people are not in the least acquainted with what remarkable things are being done by scientists, and that Edison said that only about one-one-thousandth of one per cent is so far known about electricity.

The fact that pioneers in electricity were looked upon as frauds and schemers, like the pioneers in many other scientific achievements by the "regular" and "respectable" people of their day was noted by the speaker.

The Exchange club may join with the chamber of commerce in endeavoring to promote an airport close to the bay. Several fliers are ready to use it to fly between south coast points and other cities, according to Harry Williamson, a member of the club and of the chamber of commerce aviation committee.

Because black absorbs the heat of the sun's rays more readily, the ice wedging in a steamer in Lake La Barge, Alaska, was painted that color and melted enough to free the boat.

500 Acres Burned Over In Laguna Beach Brush Fire

200 CALLED TO FIGHT FLAMES ON WEDNESDAY

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 4.—One of the most spectacular brush and grass fires along the coast broke out Wednesday afternoon and was not subdued until nearly 9 o'clock in the evening, nearly 200 men being employed part of the time. Reinforcements for the local fire department came from Newport, the Moulton ranch and the Orange County Forest corps.

A total of 500 acres was burned over, it was estimated, and though the damage cannot be estimated in dollars, there was a hard fight to prevent several summer cabins at the Top of the World colony from being consumed. Trees in the grove were scorched.

The fire started near the Tom Sawyer Boys' camp, conducted this summer by William and Al Schellacher. The camp was closed for the season a few days ago. Earlier in the day a small fire had been discovered and put out. All of the available water was used. The origin was not discovered, but fearing it might be either of incendiary origin or through gross carelessness that might be repeated, the Schellachers were about to ask for a patrol when the flames again broke out, they being away at the time.

About a year ago a similar fire burned Temple hills, to the west of the Wednesday fire, the latter almost meeting the former burned area at its most westerly limit. The flames went into Aliso canyon from Olivell canyon and into the Moulton ranch.

Charles A. Kaichen, who has been in Detroit on business for several months, started back by plane. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Saturday. Mrs. Kaichen's death came unexpectedly. She had been taken to the hospital for observation, but it was discovered that an operation would be necessary. Mr. and Mrs. Kaichen moved from this city to Hollywood about a year ago.

LAGUNA BEACH STREET BIDS REJECTED BY CITY COUNCIL; STEAD FORMALLY DISCHARGED

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 4.—All bids for work on streets on the cliffs and in the Cody tract were rejected by the city council Wednesday evening, Councilmen R. L. McCrea, M. B. McMillan, C. R. Clapp and Mayor J. E. Bishop voting to reject, Councilman Frank B. Clapp, opposed. A petition asking that the work be awarded and one asking that it not be awarded because plans and specifications made the work more costly than contemplated originally were filed.

A. J. Stead was formally discharged as superintendent of streets, the final step in severing connections between the former city engineer and the city. No report was made as to settlement for moneys due on the various projects under way. At the meeting previous Mr. Stead outlined a proposition to the council. Frank P. Gowan was appointed superintendent of streets by resolution.

Mayor Bishop as a committee on preparing the building occupied by the police department to house other city officials also, reported that it is ready for this purpose. The engineers, clerk, building inspector and treasurer will be quartered in the building.

Frank P. Gowan reported on the cost of putting names of intersecting streets on curbs or posts along Coast boulevard. This was estimated at $200, based on figures submitted by John McLaughlin.

Bidding permits for August were reported by Floyd Case at $18,805. Ordinances calling a special election to permit voting on bonding the city for a fire station, and one prohibiting issuing building permits or building on public property were passed.

Mayor Bishop was granted a leave of absence for two weeks from September 4, Councilman Clapp, being appointed as mayor pro tem during his absence. Public liability insurance was divided between local agents, A. B. Marshall and Perry McCullough, policies increased from $10,000-$20,000 to $20,000-$50,000. The policies cover city owned or operated trucks and cars.

Councilman McCrea asked regarding $5000 advanced for city use and was satisfied as to the status of the fund. G. E. Thompson asked regarding the status of the cliffs streets and was assured that the rejection of bids did not mean abandoning the proceedings. This was given also as the answer to Mr. Thompson's question regarding whether the city as a whole or the district would pay for the expenses incurred to date in the district.

The law on the subject has been quoted by one conversant with it as permitting bids to be asked again on the same plans and specifications within a period of six months from August 13, the date of the first bids.

LA HABRA ROAD OPENING TOPIC AT BOARD MEET

LA HABRA, Sept. 4.—Possibilities of opening Second street to South College avenue, a distance of three or four blocks, was the topic of discussion at the regular meeting of the city council in the city hall Tuesday night.

The extension of Second street, which is a paved street, to College, which is also a paved street with only one outlet will mean much in the development of property south of Central avenue as it is believed that if this extension can be made the county will assist in making the extension to Fullerton road, a distance of a quarter of a mile.

A motion was made that the street department confer with county officials and property owners involved to find out the possibilities of securing right of ways, costs of grading, oiling and other costs.

Costs to the city are not expected to be very much, as much of the work, it is thought, could be handled by the county under the gasoline tax plan.

The proposed street would give a rear opening to the Washington school ground, ball diamond and a front opening to the Scout hall, and new additions being erected this year at the Washington school. Possibility of opening La Habra street to Fullerton road will be investigated.

The rate set was at $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation, and of this amount six cents will go for fire bonds and 11 cents for retiring bonds.

The contract for the purchase of a section of the Launer estate on Main street for a fire hall site has been signed and the property has been put in escrow. It is expected to be ready to be turned over to the city in about two weeks. Building activities will then begin for the erection of the fire hall, which will be of red brick and which will be used by the city hall. The action ordering the sale of the property was taken at an adjourned meeting of the board last Friday evening.

The total amount to be raised for the various departments is $22,912. Of this amount, $3565 is to be raised for bonds and interest in retiring fund, present bonds and interest amount to $1240 to be raised by direct taxation; general expenses, $12,412; general government, $7710; police protection, $3351; maintenance and repairs to highways, $2841; health and sanitation, $3335; bonds and interest retiring, including fire protection, $3565; miscellaneous, $675.

When BABIES are Upset

BABY ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready?

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria.

Public Opinion Supports Civic Center Proposal

PROJECT MAY BE TAKEN TO CITY COUNCIL

That public opinion is rapidly getting behind the proposal for a civic center and stadium in Santa Ana was evident today following action taken by service clubs in endorsing the move to make the old Frances Willard school site and property adjacent to the bowl at Sixth and Olive streets available for this purpose.

Committees representing service clubs of the city will meet tomorrow at 3 p. m., probably in the council chambers, to discuss the proposition and formulate some definite plan to bring before the city council with the idea of having a bond issue called in the near future to get the project under way.

The old Willard site is to be sold next Tuesday by the board of education must be taken at once. If the city is to secure the property action must be taken at once. It passes into outside hands the location may never be available at an acceptable price again, it is declared. With rising property values the same is true of the property near Sixth and Olive streets, supporters of the project stated.

Those who have been discussing the suggestion have pointed out that the north building on the Willard site is not only larger but of more recent construction than the city hall and that it could be used for a number of years to replace the present structure thus reducing the cost of getting the center into operation. They point out that an auditorium and new library are two pressing needs of this community and that no better plan could be advanced than to group them at the proposed location.

The possibilities of the bowl at Sixth and Olive streets have been characterized as one of the greatest recreational assets the city possesses. The plan being discussed would include building of a stadium to seat perhaps 18,000 people and large enough to accommodate a football field. It could be used for band concerts, Legion demonstrations and probably would prove one of the most popular spots in the county, it is pointed out. Attractive landscaping would make it a show spot of the city.

Others in discussing the plan urge the need of a swimming pool at this location also, which they claim could be built without great expense. They point to the fact that there is no pool open to the public in Santa Ana and that many, particularly boys, ride to Anaheim to use the pool there.

The city council has not been approached on the subject for some time and its attitude is not known. When the movement was under way a year or so ago no definite action resulted after the matter was brought before the council.

Lumber Concern Employees Picnic

Members of the Barr Lumber Company Safety club, with their families, enjoyed a picnic at Irvine park last night. Approximately 50 persons were present at the party, which was one of the monthly affairs staged by the organization. A potluck supper was served, after which dancing, boating and golfing were enjoyed. Linn Hanselman, chairman of the social committee of the club, was in charge.

ACTIVITY WITH ROMOLA TOLD BY BLOODGOOD

Freeman H. Bloodgood, of Santa Ana, former deputy California real estate commissioner, today issued a statement regarding the indictment of 30 persons by the federal grand jury in Los Angeles on charges of using the mails to defraud, in connection with an investigation of Romola, Inc. This concern promoted sub-division of fig and grapefruit lands in Riverside county and Arizona.

Bloodgood commented on the fact that the indictment seemed to be a blanket affair and said it appeared that a large number of persons had been included in the list with a view to sifting out the ones who might be guilty if any law violation had occurred.

Following his resignation as deputy real estate commissioner, Bloodgood was employed on a salary by the Romola organization, he said. His employment covered seven months and ended on July 1 of this year, following the appointment of Leo Youngworth as receiver for the organization. Bloodgood made no sales, wrote no letters and received no commissions in his work, he said. His activity consisted of advising with clients regarding condition of their holdings and payments therefor, he pointed out. He said he also wrote for newspapers, including a publication of the Romola concern. He said he had visited the lands of the company before and after his connection with it and that he believed its assets were satisfactory.

No apprehension is felt by Bloodgood regarding the outcome of his connection with the Romola organization following the federal grand jury action, which included his name with those of 29 others. Twenty-six counts were listed in the indictment, 25 of which charged use of the mails to defraud and one of which was based on asserted conspiracy in the alleged effort to reap profits at the expense of investors.

Romola, Inc., whose president, Alexander Hureh, was named in the indictment, recently was petitioned into a federal receivership by friendly creditors and Leo Youngworth, attorney, was placed in charge of its affairs as receiver.

Bloodgood, according to Davis, threatened while in state employ to "put Romola out of operation in California" because of alleged laxity.

JUNIOR ORCHESTRA SEASON UNDER WAY

The Orange county junior symphony orchestra, organized by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Karp, director and leaders, was embarked on its second season today. The group, including 60 student musicians, made its first public appearance during music week here last year and was warmly applauded.

Modern music, along with classical works of Handel, Bach, Joseph Block, Gluck and Rimsky-Korsakov, has been secured for study during the coming season. A public concert will be presented early in the fall. Part of the training will include a reading of Wagner's "Nibelungen Ring," with musical interpretations, designed to fit the children for greater appreciation of Wagner. Mrs. Karp pointed out that the orchestra work is the contribution of herself and her husband to the musical development of the county and that a child does not need to be a member of the Karp studio to join the orchestra. Those enrolled come from Santa Ana, Orange, Fullerton and Anaheim. Rehearsals are held each Monday night.

VOTERS ACTIVE HERE AGAIN IN REGISTRATION

A renewal of activity in registration of voters in preparation for the general election in November was reported today by County Clerk J. M. Backs, who directs this work. Outside deputies are calling for additional supplies, which means increased activity in this line, he stated.

Registrations for the November election will close on October 4, and all citizens who desire to vote at this time and who have not registered since the first of this year will be required to place their names on the register of voters before they can use the ballot.

Total registration for the general election is expected to reach approximately 52,000. Backs estimated. The registration two years ago at the fall election was 51,097. There were 48,987 voters properly qualified and entitled to vote at the primary election last month, but only 26,920 exercised their right to do so.

SONG NUMBERS ARE HEARD BY BREAKFASTERS

"Breakfasters" were entertained with a dominantly musical program today as they gathered at St. Ann's inn for the usual weekly session with hog, hen fruit and accessories. In the absence of Chef B. Z. McKinney, Parke S. Roper presided at the meeting and kept things moving along serenely. The program chairman was Norman Harvey.

A special number written by Harvey and sung as a duet by the composer and Ike Fields that created much merriment was entitled "We Are Angels But We Ain't Got No Wings." Harvey also played a piano solo, "I Knew I'd Miss You," an original composition which he reported had been accepted by music publishers. As an encore he played "Trees," H. E. Owings briefly addressed the group.

The feature of the program was a talk by N. E. Mathews on his hobby, collecting old, odd and foreign phonograph records. He also presented several numbers from his collection, one of which was 32 years old, another, an importation from Argentina and another which came from Palestine. The contrast between the recordings of 1898 and 1930 was marked.

The program committee for next week is composed of newspaper representatives, with Miss Betty Maloney as chairman.

Needleworkers Enjoy Pleasant Evening In Woods Home

The home of Mrs. Wilbur Woods at 148 North Waverly street in Orange, was gay with baskets of brilliant hued dinnies and asters last night when the entertained members and guests of the Chat and Sew club. Mrs. Edwin Westcott assisted Mrs. Woods as co-hostess. While the guests strolled away on bits of needlework, they had much to discuss regarding past vacation pleasures and plans for the approaching fall season.

Guests were delighted to meet the young son of the home, Master Ralph Woods, who was an interested onlooker throughout the evening. The refreshment course was especially inviting, and was served on individual trays decked with dainty dillies and carrying out a pink and white motif. Little gumdrop figures formed amusing favors.

Those sharing in the hospitality of Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Westcott were Mrs. H. H. Riggie and Mrs. John Vernon of this city, Mrs. Ensey Campbell of Garden Grove, Mrs. Frances A. White and Miss Alice Lawson of Long Beach, Mesdames George Fraumeni, Harold A. Bell, Oliver Wickersheim, John T. McNeil, Earl Wood, and Miss Edna Case, of Orange. ## Unusual Attractions Are Promised For Ebells Opening

Music, which is a glorified and harmonious "Esperanto," or universal language, will bring its message to members of Ebells society next Monday afternoon, September 8, when the opening club session of the year will attract members to the newly decorated clubhouse on French street, to be entertained by the Valkyries, a newly organized trio of voices that have been lauded as "glorious" by those privileged to have heard them.

The Valkyries as a singing organization has risen like a brilliant star on the musical horizon of Los Angeles, and has been acclaimed as one of the finest singing organizations in the Southland. The three members, Nelle Gothold and Ruth Howell, sopranos, and Eleanor Bryan, contralto, have each attained standing as soloists, and the blending of their voices is said to give unusual richness and power.

Miss Gothold has sung in grand opera, oratorio and concert and has assumed leading roles in different opera reading clubs. Miss Howell, the second soprano, is one of the favorite soloists of Los Angeles, and Miss Bryan has achieved special fame as contralto soloist in the famous Mission Play. All three have the additional charm of arresting personalities.

Their recital will be given at 8 o'clock Monday afternoon, following a delightful social event planned by the executive board of the society, headed by the president, Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill, assisted by chairmen of the various standing committees. This feature will be a 12:30 luncheon for the general membership, and tickets may be reserved for the hospitality, through Mrs. A. G. Flagg, telephone 1703. A very nominal price is being asked for the luncheon.

The affair will partake of the nature of a house-warming as well, for the newly decorated clubhouse will be opened throughout for inspection, and those who have seen the changes made, feel that every member will be enthusiastic over the general effect. The program by the Valkyries will climax the delightful day, and will offer solo groups by each artist as well as the ensemble numbers.

Elgar's "The Snow," "Orientale" by Cui-Harris; "So mes Vies Avenir des Altes" by Hahn-Lynes, and "The Sleigh" by Kountz, have been promised for the opening group, after which Miss Howell will sing. Her numbers will be "A Little Song" by Sanderson; "Phyllis" by Vorhies, and "In Quelle Trine Morbide," from "Manon" by Puccini.

Miss Bryan will follow with "Amour Viens Aider" from "Samson et Delila" by Saint-Saens, and other songs of her own selection. Miss Gothold's solos will include Mozart's "Allouah" and "Song of Sleep" by Bishop, and a request number, "The Battle Cry of the Valkyrie" by Wagner.

Concluding the program will be the trio numbers, "Greetings to Spring" and "The Old Refrain" by Kreisler, and a group of Wagnerian opening numbers, "The Song of the Rhein Maidens," "Entrance of the Gods into Valhalla," and "The Valkyries."

CHURCH SOCIETY INSTALLS OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

Marking the tenth anniversary of the present organization of unified women's activities of the First Baptist church, and the beginning of a new year's work as well, members of the Women's society met yesterday for a luncheon and business session, featuring the installation of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Harry Evan Owings was installed as honorary president and Mrs. Warren Brakeman as president of the organization.

The dining room was most attractive, and officers-elect were seated at a T-shaped table in the center of the room. All of the tables were decked with delicate pink blossoms. In harmony with the chosen color scheme was a large birthday cake bearing an appropriate inscription and 10 gleaming candles. This was the gift of Mrs. R. E. Coulter, a member of the hostess committee. Others serving as hostesses were Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mrs. Earl Morris, Mrs. Cassius Paul, Mrs. W. B. Lockett and Miss Lula Minter.

Presents Gift
In complying with custom, Mrs. E. A. Bell, retiring president of the group, presented a gift to the church, a 200-cup porcelain-lined coffee urn. In accepting the gift the Rev. Mr. Owings gave one of his delightful talks.

The annual business session featured reports from the retiring officers, evidencing a most successful year. Dedicated to Miss Gertrude Minor, 1927-29 past president, was an interesting chapter read by Miss Ida Nay, historian, giving an account of all the things done by the women during the year.

Presentation of the year books by the editor, Mrs. E. A. Maher, was one of the high lights of the afternoon, and members felt justly proud of the little apocryphal and silver booklet, for aside from being a truly artistic publication, it ranks among the best books of its kind in the state. Devotionals on the topic, "Faithful" were conducted by Mrs. Harry Evan Owings.

Mrs. E. A. Bell, always gracious, installed the officers for the coming year, accompanying her charge to each woman with a pretty arm bouquet of pastel tinted asters and ferns. The retiring president,

Return of Newly-weds Is Celebrated By Their Friends

Having surprised their many friends in this city with the announcement of their marriage as an event of August 27 in Riverside, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Buswell, (Sue Greenleaf) were in turn due for a surprise when a number of friends and relatives gathered at their home, 911 West Seventeenth street, recently and feted them with an old-fashioned charivari.

One party followed another, for the remainder of the evening was spent in the home of Mrs. Amanda Greenleaf, close to the Buswell home where a miscellaneous shower for the happy couple was held. Mr. and Mrs. Lee P. Flaherty, son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. Greenleaf, assisted her in her duties as hostess. Blue daisies and pink verbenas provided an attractive floral setting for the affair.

An appetizing refreshment course concluded the evening, and when Mr. and Mrs. Buswell returned to their home they found it prettily decorated as the result of the artistry of a number of the guests.

Those sharing the pleasant event with Mrs. Greenleaf and Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty, were the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Buswell, and Messrs. and Mesdames Robert L. Greenleaf, J. Frank Snowden, Roy Lancaster, Bernie Lancaster and son, Bert, Clifford A. Greenleaf, Arthur Greenleaf, Wayne Wood, J. C. Kirby, Walter Sutton, Charles Graham, and the Misses Emma and Bertha Bell, Mary and Irene Dinford, Geneva Sweetser, Catherine Lancaster, Mrs. M. W. Sweetser, Mrs. A. Kennedy, Mrs. Helen M. ## Pupil Recital

Attracting about 75 music lovers of the city was a charming recital of Tuesday evening, when little Miss Eleanor-Olive Schmelzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Schweitzer, 1024 Kilson drive, was presented in the Greenleaf building as a piano student of Lola E. Wilkinson, and a violin student of George Evans, both of the Institute of Musical Education. Guests responded noticeably to her interpretation of "Phantasy" by Mozart, and Bach's Prelude, both piano numbers. Winning special favor among the violin numbers was "Amaryllis" by Ghyss. Displaying her talents as a composer as well as an interpreter of others' musical creations, Miss Schweitzer played an original piano number, "Starry Night."

Ebells Officers and Chairman Enjoy Luncheon

Auguring a thoroughly delightful year of work and entertainment for members of Santa Ana Ebells society was the luncheon tendered the chairmen of various standing committees of the society, who were entertained Tuesday in the summer home of Mrs. Victor Montgomery in East Newport, with members of the executive board as hostesses.

The Montgomery home is famous for its hospitality and its charm, both qualities being pronounced in Tuesday's pleasant affair. Mrs. Montgomery had the assistance of her daughters, the Misses Gertrude and Louise Montgomery, in dispensing the hospitality, the sisters aiding the executive board members in every manner, in making the day memorable.

The forenoon hours were given over to business, with club activities for the winter months of paramount interest. Luncheon at mid-day had been planned as a covered dish affair, with each member of the hostess group contributing some special item of the delectable menu, which was completed by some of the famous southern dishes for which the Montgomery home is noted. Individual tables were used for serving, and each bore its small cluster of blossoms.

The afternoon was devoted to a most amusing game originated by Miss Louise Montgomery, and which was adapted to the seashore motif. Mrs. W. L. Salisbury, scoring high, was suitably rewarded, while Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill, president of the society, found ample consolation in the gift awarded for low scoring.

While several of the officers and committee chairmen were unable to be present, the group included Mrs. Montgomery and the Misses Montgomery, Mrs. Tuthill, Mrs. L. Chenoweth, Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, Mrs. W. H. Haddon, Mrs. W. H. DeWolfe, Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Mrs. Harry Spencer, Mrs. M. M. Holmes, Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Mrs. LaMont McFadden, Mrs. Michael C. Maloney, Mrs. Edward M. ## Friendly Dozen Group Meets For Needlework

Members of the Friendly Dozen club were pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon when they met in the home of Mrs. Lauren Threlkeld, 403 South Garney street. Roses and dahlias in a variety of deep tones adorned the rooms. The usual occupation of sewing was enjoyed, and at the conclusion of the afternoon a delectable refreshment course was served. Mrs. E. Newton was a guest of the day. Members sharing Mrs. Threlkeld's hospitality were Mesdames Anna Gall, Louise Schick, Violet Rudiman, Kate Peterson and Eleanor Fish.

County Medicos' Wives Share Interesting Afternoon

Indicative of the interest which the autumn and winter meetings of the Orange County Medical Association auxiliary promises to its members, was the pleasant gathering of the wives of county medicos Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. D. Kilbourne, 2435 Riverside Drive.

Mrs. Merrill Hollingsworth as co-hostess, joined with Mrs. Kilbourne in extending friendly greetings to the guests, and presenting the special program features. These included the introduction of Mrs. James E. Percy of Los Angeles, whose position as president of the state auxiliary, was recognized by presenting her as guest of honor. In her gracious response, she outlined some of the work that the physicians' wives are accomplishing, and what they may anticipate in the future.

Mrs. Percy also conferred a marked distinction on the county organization by naming its president, Mrs. F. E. Coulter of this city, as chairman of the state program committee, a position for which she was especially well suited. This is the second state office to be filled by a member of the county auxiliary, for Mrs. Dexter Hall, also of Santa Ana, is secretary-treasurer of the California auxiliary.

Dr. William Duffield of Los Angeles, created ripples of amusement by the whimsical humor which enlivened his interesting talk on "Doctors' Wives," and brought the actual program to a close.

In the subsequent interval, Mrs. Kilbourne and Mrs. Hollingsworth asked their guests to the dining-room, where quantities of autumn flowers in russet and rust hues, added charm to the scene. Mrs. D. A. Harwood and Mrs. John D. Ball presided at the daintily arranged tea table. There were some 35 members present to share the occasion.

Mayflower Club Holds Enjoyable Meeting In Beach Home

The charming J. D. Sanborn cottage at Newport Beach was an inviting retreat for members of the Mayflower club Tuesday, when they motored to the popular resort for an all-day meeting. A potluck luncheon was served at noon amidst a brilliant setting of asters, dahlias and other early fall flowers in varied shades.

Mrs. P. T. Isherwood, as president of the group, was in charge of the business of the afternoon, which was followed by a session of bridge. Some preferred beach sports to the bridge game, and when all had taken part in some diversion of the afternoon, a watermelon feast followed.

Those sharing Mrs. Sanborn's hospitality were Mesdames Fannie Cunningham, Eureka Osborn, Kenneth Steussy, Bertha Cary, Amelia Perkins, M. R. Kellogg, A. T. Perkins, F. K. Halber, William Lawrence, V. C. Shidler, R. G. Butler, E. E. Frisby, E. W. Cochems, J. W. Parkinson, and Ellen Smith. Daughters and sons of those present included Audrey Harrell, Betty and Jacqueline Shidler, Jeanne and Eleanor Lawrence, Peggy-Louise Parkinson, Hester and Helen Sanborn, Junior Butler, Chester Ford, Richard Halber and Eugene Frisby.

Greater Richness, Finer Flavor in Coffees from Central America

For a real change try these rare coffees that experts concede are not duplicated anywhere else in the world.

WHEN coffee seems to turn out "thin" or "flat" no matter how you make it—try a real change. Not just another "brand" of coffee. A different kind of coffee. Coffees from the West Coast of Central America.

You'll find these famous coffees different in quality and richness from any you ever tasted. They have a rare tang and mellow body that, experts concede, are not duplicated by any other region in the world. Nature eliminates in these coffees the "rough" offensive oils—preserves the true rich flavor, pure and invigorating.

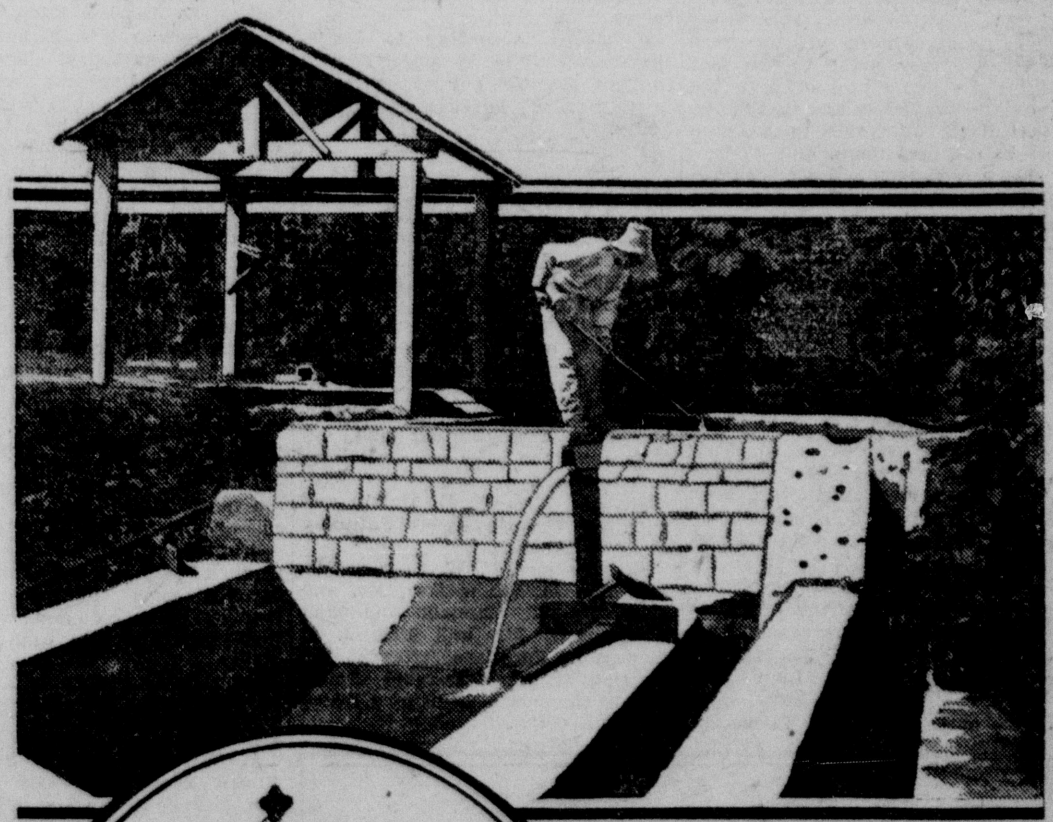

Try it today, just for a change! See for yourself what an amazing difference in coffee flavor and richness there can be!

Accept a Pound to Try

Just go to your grocer and buy a pound of Folger's. Drink it tomorrow morning. Next morning serve the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them.

If for any reason you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. And you will have a pound of coffee without cost. But if you do as 8 out of 10 do, you'll never be satisfied to return to less flavorful coffees. And you'll become a regular customer of ours. That's why we can afford to make this offer. Try it. You'll be glad you did.

Washing Coffee in Central America
Nature gives these rare mountain coffees a richness and flavor unlike any other. In preparing these coffees for Folger the outer pulp is removed from the berries by washing twice, in water from clear mountain streams. Only the very finest coffees are prepared by this double-washing process.

Your Cup of Folger's Leaves the Mountains
From the tiny mountain districts shown on the map below, we secure coffees unlike any known before. On mules and burros they start to the sea to arrive eventually at your breakfast table.

Ring Mould Cooking Helps Housewife

Every woman knows that food must tempt first the eye, and the eye once conquered, the stomach falls into line. This is an easy task when the dish is made from fresh material but not so easy when leftovers have to be disguised so that the family will eat and ask for more.

Ring mould cookery was made for just such occasions. Let's suppose you have left from dinner yesterday about two cupfuls of meat (roast pork, boiled ham, chicken or veal) and this quantity of meat must be made to serve a family of four hungry people. The first thing to do is to make two cupfuls of thick cream sauce using the beaten egg yolks here, and into this cream sauce the finely chopped meat is put along with a can of asparagus tips cut in inch lengths, or a can of peas, possibly some diced cooked carrot.

Mix and season it to your taste. Whip 3 egg whites very stiff, and fold them into the cream sauce mixture. Butter a ring mould, fill with the mixture, and bake in a pan of hot water in a medium oven long enough to cook the egg white. This time will vary from 30 minutes to 45.

Turn the mould onto a hot platter garnish with parsley and pour around it a well seasoned gravy made with beef cubes and a few button mushrooms. The center of the mould can be filled with some hot buttered vegetable.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Finnian Haddie Delmonico
1 pound finnian haddie fillet
6 new potatoes
1 cup green peas, cooked
2 hard cooked eggs
3 cups rich cream sauce
Paprika and diced pimiento for garnish

A whole dinner is served in this dish. Although the recipe specifies "6 new potatoes," any cooked potato cut in inch cubes will do. There must be three cupfuls at least.

Put the finnian haddie fillet into a pan filled with hot water, cover, and let simmer until the flakes will break under a fork. Drain and flake. Have ready in a double boiler 3 cups of cream sauce, fold the fish flakes into the sauce and leave till ready to serve.

On a large platter arrange the vegetables—the peas in the center and the diced potatoes around the peas (both hot and lightly buttered). Pour the hot fish and sauce over the vegetables, put the eggs, cut in slices, around the outside of the platter, and garnish with a dusting of paprika and shreds of pimiento.

There are generous portions for four in this recipe whose calories total a round 2400, or 600 per person. This is a very moderate allowance when the dish makes the main portion of the meal. A crisp vegetable salad should be served to help digest the rich part of the dish, and for dessert, I think nothing compares with grapefruit after a fish dinner.

THE DIARY OF A KITCHEN PEPPY closes its free run today. A stamped, self-addressed envelope sent immediately will still entitle you to a free copy of this amusing chronicle of a week's meals and the hit-and-miss planning that went into them. About the way most of us feed the family, isn't it?

Next week the seventh of the ANN'S COOKBOOK leaflets will be the leaflet offering. Subject announced on Monday. Until then Au Revoir!

Clock Emphasizes Thrift of French

PARIS, Sept. 4.—(INS)—Further proof of proverbial French thrift comes by way of an ingenious little clock recently put on the market which is a savings bank at one and the same time. Unless one feeds the clock one franc, two francs or three, as the case calls for, it stoutly refuses to run and since few people care to have a clock that will not run staring him in the face day after day, every effort will be made to keep it filled up with franc pieces which can be removed at some far-distant rainy day.

UNLAWFUL PRAYER
LEIPSI, Sept. 4.—The German Supreme Court here has ruled that certain prayers drawn up for use in public schools by Dr. Frick, Fascist minister of education for Thuringia, are unconstitutional. A part of the prayer reads: "I believe that Thou wilt punish the betrayal of Germany and bless the actions of those who seek to free the fatherland."

Local Actors In Screen Tests Tonight
LEADERS IN BIG VOTE CONTEST AT WEST COAST
Santa Ana movie fans are to see the first steps that are taken in the production of a motion picture, when screen tests of actors for "Double Play," the all-Santa Ana motion picture will be made on the stage of the Fox-West Coast theater tonight at 8:30 o'clock.
Ten winners of the Santa Ana Register-Fox West Coast theater popularity contest, five boys and five girls, will be "shot" on the stage between the first and second regular shows tonight, and a full house is expected to greet the winners.
At the same time the official presentation of the prizes won by the 10 contestants will be made. "Double Play" is a college comedy which will be taken here immediately. The inside scenes will all be taken on the stage of the theater, so that the public can see the picture made from week to week.
Manager Norman Sprowl announced today that each Thursday night would be set aside for the taking of the indoor scenes. "To night should be a gala night at the West Coast theater. We have made plans for a big evening for the audience as well as the lucky contestants, and there will be things happening on and around the stage which have never seen before," Sprowl said regarding the taking of the screen tests.
The contestants who will be on the stage tonight to have the tests made are: Norman Paul, Corinne Pennington, Luvina Layton Schade, Everett Conkright, Dorothy Reynolds, Mario Mercurio, Sue Verberg, Ted Newcomb, Virginia Roberts and Robert Naylon.

Badge for Legion Meeting Adopted
BOSTON, Sept. 4.—(INS)—A large bronze medal with light oxidized finish, featuring historic Boston, the soldier, sailor and marine and a map of New England with a message of welcome from that section has been adopted as the official badge for the American Legion convention here in October. Already an order for 83,000 of these badges has been placed, and other large orders were to follow.

Peasants Urged To Defend Russia

MOSCOW, Sept. 4.—"Osoavichim," the society for defense, sent a unique river barge rigged up like a battleship down the Moscow, Oka and Volga rivers to stir up interest in military preparedness among the peasants.

The barge carried a staff of instructors, trophies of the Far Eastern Red army in the campaign against the Chinese last fall and innumerable placards tending to prove that imperialist nations of the world are arming to attack the Soviet union. At stops in the larger cities along the route automobile parties will be sent from the ship into the surrounding country. Branches of Osoavichim will be organized wherever one exists.

THEY NEED IT
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 4.—It's a risky job holding public office in Mexico, even riskier than being a gangster in Chicago. Recognizing this, the National Revolutionary Party has established life insurance for its employees and all members holding public office. Premiums will be paid from the party treasury.

MAN OF HIS WORD
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Actions speak louder than words thinks George Stubblefield, alias Robert Johns, who was identified as the man who held up the Foster state band in June. On being introduced to the county jail here he exclaimed, "What a cracker-box!" When that statement failed to impress he added, "Anyone could get out of here." Nevertheless the sheriff took no extra precautions and placed Stubblefield in an ordinary cell. Somewhat piqued at this treatment Stubblefield bided his time and the next evening forced a lock on his cell and walked away leaving no clues as to his destination.

"The Storm" Opens 2-Day Run Today

Hailed as the talking screen's most thrilling picture, "The Storm," Universal's romantic drama of the human triangle in a snow-bound cabin in the Canadian wilds, comes to the Fox West Coast theater today and tomorrow. Lovely, vivacious Lupe Velez has the leading feminine role, that of a little French-Canadian girl. The male angles of the triangle are portrayed by two of the most capable actors of stage and screen—Paul Cavanaugh and William Boyd.

The human situation in "The Storm" alone would furnish drama and suspense enough for any picture. Added to this, however, are natural thrills of a surpassing nature.

Lupe Velez has a role which, in the proverbial phrase, fits her like a glove. She gives one of the most appealing performances of her career. In addition to her acting, she sings a song, "Clansong of Pierrot and Pierrette." In the cast, in addition to Cavanaugh and Boyd, who are featured with Miss Velez, Alphonse Ethier and Ernie S. Adams have important roles.

"The Storm" was directed by William Wyler, whose "Hell's Heroes" won the widest possible acclaim from both critics and patrons of the films. The picture is based on London McCormick's sensational stage success of the same name. Charles Logue wrote the adaptation, Wells Root the screen play and dialogue.

The Rev. Mr. Bailes was met at the Bay city by his wife. At present he is minister of the First Presbyterian church in Los Angeles.

"ANIMAL CRACKERS" TO BE HELD OVER

"Animal Crackers," the nutty show with the Four Marx Brothers which has been playing at the Fox Broadway theater since last Monday will complete its run at that theater tonight, but will be taken to the Fox West Coast theater Saturday and Sunday, it was announced today.

The demand to see the film has been so large here that Manager Sprowl announced today that he would give Santa Ana theatergoers two extra days in which to see the film.

The Four Marx Brothers, funniest men of the screen, will keep any audience howling for more than an hour. There is little plot to the performance, but little is needed. When any one of the four brothers are on the screen, it is a signal for loud guffaws and the jokes come so fast and furious that it is hard to keep up with them.

The plot concerns the theft of a valuable painting, and the substitution of two fakes. Eventually all of them are stolen and Harpo Marx is pointed out as the thief amid much confusion. He then escapes by etherizing the whole crowd of guests at a big estate which is honoring Groucho Marx, big game hunter.

700 Succeed In Climbing To Peak

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 4.—(INS)—Long's peak—once a spot that was accessible to only the most seasoned mountain climbers—has been reached by more than 700 persons thus far this season. Harold Dunning, Loveland climber, who has reached the summit 38 times, announces that an average of 20 persons daily have registered in the mountain club register on the peak.

Louis Giddings, 20-year-old University of Colorado student from Caldwell, Tex., holds the season's time record for the climb. Giddings covered the 8 1/2 mile climb over a trail that rises 5,215 feet in altitude, in 4 hours 34 minutes. The average round trip requires 12 hours.

KIDDIES' CLUB
LONDON, Sept. 4.—A club exclusively for children has been built here by Bernard Baron at a cost of more than $325,000. In it are shower baths, inside cricket and football fields with electric flood lights. Also, there is a theater, swimming pool, toboggan run and two splendidly equipped gymnasiums. On the roof is a beautiful flower garden.

GOOD CAST SEEN IN SHOW AT WALKER'S

The trials and tribulations of a traveling "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troupe are very amusingly portrayed in "The Girl in the Show," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all-talking picture which opened at Walker's State theater last night. Bessie Love is a delightful "Little Eva" while Raymond Hackett, whose popularity has quadrupled since "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and "Madame X," is impressive as a lover, and very funny as "Simon Legree."

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY NAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Their ride was quite a pleasant one and everyone had heaps of fun. At one time Cloway almost had the bunch off of the road, in driving her forgot to steer, and just when trouble loomed right near, somebody grabbed hold of the reins and saved the frightened load.

Along the highway they soon found some youngsters hiking over the ground. On each one's shoulder was a sack. "What's in those?" Cloway cried. One of the boys said, "Well, jump out and see what they are all about. No fooling, if you do we'll let you take a peek inside."

Then Cloway answered, "I am game," and right up to the boys he came. One opened up his sack and Cloway cried, "They're melons. Gee! They surely look real fit to eat and I'll bet every bite's a treat." The boy replied, "Well, help yourselves! This little treat's on me."

The Tinymites did and, oh, how good! They ate just what they thought they should and then they thanked the kindly boys and said, "Come, have a ride. 'Twill save you walking down the road. Our cart will hold all of this load." They traveled on for miles and miles, all sitting side by side.

The two boys then said, "We'll get out because our house is just about a mile back off this road-way here and we are due at home." The next thing that the Tinymites saw filled every single one with awe. How strange are things you often see, wherever you may roam!

This was a little girl and she seemed just as happy as could be despite the fact that on her head was a monstrous basket stood. But they were not surprised over that. Inside a little baby sat. That's what amused the Tinymites. One said, "Gee, that baby's good!"

SHERLOCK HOLMES—Case of the "Gloria Scott"

And so it happened that an hour or so later I found myself in a first class carriage flying toward Exeter, while Sherlock Holmes dipped rapidly into a bundle of fresh papers. At last, after many miles, he threw down the last paper and offered me his cigarette case.

B-2

"I presume you have looked into the matter of the murder of John Straker and the disappearance of Silver Blaze," Holmes said. "On Tuesday evening the boy brought me telegrams from both Colonel Ross, the owner, and Inspector Gregory, inviting my co-operation."

"And this is Thursday morning!" I exclaimed. "Why didn't you go down yesterday?"

"Because I made a blunder, my dear Watson. The fact is I could not believe it possible that the most remarkable horse in England could remain concealed, especially in such a place as the north of Dartmoor, where there is scarcely a house or even a shed in which to hide him. ## SHERLOCK HOLMES—Case of the "Gloria Scott"

And so it happened that an hour or so later I found myself in a first class carriage flying toward Exeter, while Sherlock Holmes dipped rapidly into a bundle of fresh papers. At last, after many miles, he threw down the last paper and offered me his cigarette case.

B-2

"I presume you have looked into the matter of the murder of John Straker and the disappearance of Silver Blaze," Holmes said. "On Tuesday evening the boy brought me telegrams from both Colonel Ross, the owner, and Inspector Gregory, inviting my co-operation."

"And this is Thursday morning!" I exclaimed. "Why didn't you go down yesterday?"

"Because I made a blunder, my dear Watson. The fact is I could not believe it possible that the most remarkable horse in England could remain concealed, especially in such a place as the north of Dartmoor, where there is scarcely a house or even a shed in which to hide him. ## A CRITIC ANSWERED

The Register is not in the habit, as its readers well know, of answering vicious, scurrilous attacks by other newspapers and a certain brand of politicians upon it. It believes in the long run that truth will be vindicated, and the motives behind actions thoroughly known in spite of false accusations.

In a recent copy of the Orange paper, however, appears a letter from the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that city. Were he not also publicity manager of the county and receiving pay therefor, publicity manager for the Fair, and himself in his dual capacity certainly obligated to be interested in all sections of the county, we would not refer to what this letter contains. But in the course of this letter, which finds fault with a news item printed in The Register of some days before, the writer says:

"However, there is more to it than simply clearing the skirts of the Chamber of Commerce. The Santa Ana Register is engaged in a futile attempt to dominate this field, both from a subscriber's point of view and also that Santa Ana interests may be given this additional advantage over Orange interests. The Register cares nothing about Orange or any of its people. Its particular reason for venomous spouting against the Chamber of Commerce possibly is based upon the fact that Mr. Burke has not been able to dictate the actions of the chamber."

Here is an assumption that The Register is looking after Santa Ana's interests and is only pushing its circulation and service in Orange to the end that Santa Ana may be benefited. If this were true, which it is not, the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the city of Orange would have no ground for complaint, for the Orange paper, with which he affiliates and loyally supports is endeavoring constantly to arouse the spirit of animosity of the Orange people against Santa Ana commercially, politically and even personally. The Register would contend as zealously for the right and interest of Orange unjustly assailed as it would for Santa Ana.

The Register has a large circulation in Orange, and a very large circulation in all of the territory immediately surrounding the city of Orange. Some time ago The Register was waited upon by five men from the city of Orange, and a request made that in some manner we give the business men of Orange an opportunity to reach the readers of The Register with their appeals for business. We were glad to do this. We made arrangements to do so by planning on the Orange page to present in an Orange edition the advertisements of these merchants, which advertisements would go into Orange and the immediate vicinity surrounding Orange. It was done because of the appeal from the Orange people themselves.

As soon as this opportunity became known, a group of business men were called together, and through the appeal of local pride, and hostile action against Santa Ana, the very opportunity that was to be afforded was turned down by the business men themselves. In other words, they denied themselves the opportunity to present their claims to many people in their own community. We are not complaining about this, we are simply stating it as a fact to evidence the fact that there is nothing further from the policy of The Register than to use Orange as against Santa Ana. The readers in Orange and vicinity who take The Register, undoubtedly had their opinions of such a move but they certainly did not charge us with any hostile attitude. If in consequence of such actions, the readers of a paper follow its advertising, not even knowing the opportunities afforded by the Orange business men, certainly this paper or the readers, representatives of whom asked for this opportunity, are not to blame.

Again, it is a strange circumstance that one who is paid by county funds for his service, and a representative of the county should complain in this manner. He is employed in part because of the good will he is supposed to have, and he sends out copy requesting publication, supposedly interested in the entire county, and then proceeds to stir up venom and opposition, supposedly on behalf of his own city, against a sister city, but in our judgment is simply on behalf of a very few people in his own city. Every word that The Register has published concerning events criticized has been checked up and found to be correct.

The writer alleges that the publisher of The Register is opposed to the Orange Chamber of Commerce because he cannot run it. The publisher of The Register is NOT opposed to the Orange Chamber of Commerce, and never desired to run it or any other chamber of commerce. He did criticize the Orange Chamber of Commerce for passing resolutions proposing to ignore majority rule on the water bond issue, and to force a vote on the same issue again, without attempting anything else, believing that that was contrary to the American principle of majority rule. It said so then, it believed it, just as it profoundly believes it now.

A CIVIC CENTER

Many people in Santa Ana are interested in a civic center for the city. There is no doubt but what as the years go on, the delay in working out the plans for a civic center will prove unfortunate for Santa Ana. Either the city will have its various public buildings and offices in various sections of the city, or in order to establish a civic center later, it will have to expend a great deal larger amount of money than it would have to expend at the present time. Property values are rapidly increasing. Within the memory of many men in the city, real estate which formerly sold for a few hundred dollars now sells for many thousands, and property which can now be purchased for $100,000 or $150,000 in a few years will cost many times that sum.

We would commend the suggestion by many men of the city that the location of St. Ann's Inn is the ideal one, coupled with the court house, as the civic center of Santa Ana. The property for a whole block around St. Ann's Inn might now be purchased, and being right opposite the court house grounds, there could be a merging of interests of the county and city planning which would make for a wonderful center for all public buildings, and in which the citizens could take great pride. To be sure, negotiations have about been consummated by the board of supervisors of the county for the purchase of St. Ann's Inn. However, we understand there is a clause in the contract which might yet save it, if the trustees of St. Ann's Inn had some other plan to work out.

There is no question but what the elimination of St. Ann's Inn as a hostelry, unless some other similar institution is built in the city, will do Santa Ana serious harm. Other hotels take care of the traveling public which is commercial in character, and undoubtedly money will flow in to meet any demand for hotel service. But for the character of institution that the St. Ann's Inn is, something more is needed than the inspiration of money returned.

St. Ann's Inn is well known to that class of people who with leisure seek out the quiet, home-like public places in various cities in which to spend a few days from time to time during the year, and to which they can bring their friends coming to visit them from the East, North and South, and which gives thereby a reputation to the city of being distinctive in its ability to entertain that class of guests who are looking for a quiet, homey, interesting and unique temporary home amid picturesque surroundings. Other cities have these places, and it is unfortunate if Santa Ana will lose hers.

We have been among those who have been called upon to make contributions on a small amount of stock from time to time, and while we would rather have had dividends on it, we certainly believe that the value of St. Ann's Inn to the city, purely from a financial point of view, is worth what it has been costing, providing that cost could have been equitably distributed among many people rather than having a few bear it.

We wish this civic center idea could be worked out around St. Ann's Inn and the court house; that the St. Ann's Inn could be kept as an inn until such time as the city might be financially able to carry out its building program, and that between this time and that plans might be perfected for the building of an inn that would be unique and winning in its architecture, topography and general characteristics. It is a great asset to any city, but particularly to Southern California. We need a civic center. No place is better fitted than the location of St. Ann's Inn. We need the thing that St. Ann's Inn is furnishing now to the people who come to our city. We hope both things can be worked out to the satisfaction and profit of all.

Hot Afternoons In London

New York Times

The heat wave in England—and throughout the Continent—may not be so severe as that recently experienced in this country, but no one who knows the English climate and the Britisher's attitude toward it can fail to sympathize with him. Surrounded by the sea, he is not accustomed to extremes. Abnormally cold winters, such as that described so vividly by John Ridd in "Lorna Doone," wear a terrible aspect for him, and he is accustomed to a Summer average temperature of 60 degrees or thereabout.

Even London seldom gets blistering hot. The newspapers begin to talk of a "hot spell" the minute the thermometer rises above 70. During one period of warm weather only a few weeks ago one paper noted, with proper amazement, that the temperature "did not fall below 68 at any time, even during the night."

According to our London correspondent, the excessive heat of the last few days drove the stock brokers of Throckmorton street to go without their waistcoats and caused many of their brethren to substitute iced drinks for tea. Their American cousins may be permitted to hope that these shocking innovations are merely temporary.

Municipal Alarm Clock Needed In European Town

San Bernardino Sun

An interesting variation of the curfew is found in Cobourg, part of the debatable territory ceded by Germany to France after the World war. The citizens do not seem to have any problem about going to bed at night. They can do that without help. But they have a terrible time getting up in the morning.

The town has long had a 6 o'clock bell which rang to wake the populace. A few months ago an ordinance was passed doing away with it. Since then everything has gone wrong. Nobody got to work on time. Business lagged. Without that municipal alarm clock the town simply couldn't start the day right. So it is being restored, and now life will go on as usual again.

Of course Cobourg might have taken to family alarm clocks. But it is much simpler and easier to make the town hall do it. And while we have no desire to hurt the alarm clock business, we wonder whether it wouldn't be a good thing in a lot of American cities.

PUTTING IT OVER

When some hot information he has to convey
Concerning new sweet-bearing plants,
The bee, so the great aparians say,
Performs an interpretive dance.
His jiggles and capers are carefully planned
He moves with such method around
That his mates who observe him at last understand
Where more honey or wax may be found.

The buzz of a bee means just nothing at all,
It is made by his fluttering wings
But the workers around him are stirred by the call
Of his reels and tandances and flings,
And when he has fallen, more dead than alive
And lies in a faint on the floor,
They hasten in hordes from their home in the hive
And gather their sugary store.

I suppose that his gestures are always exact,
He must be a marvel indeed
To relate, by the means of a pantomime act
A story his fellows can read,
Concerning the distance, direction and kind
Of flowers he's found on his flight
So the swarm needs but merely to go forth and find,
Being sure that the dope was quite right.

I have watched many limber limbed women and men
Who sought to relate, by the dance
Some tale too abstruse for the voice or the pen
But I gazed at them all quite askance.
To arouse any thought or emotion in me
They were never quite gifted enough,
The sense in their gestures I never could see,
But it seems that the bee knows his stuff.

"Tom Thumb" Economics
DefendedBy WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER
and WADDILL CATCHINGS

We said yesterday that the unprecedented prosperity of the United States during the past 15 years resulted largely from the growth of the automobile industry. Many objections have been raised to that statement. Surely, it is said, we exaggerate. Surely, the building industry and the steel industry played a large part, not to mention the railroads.

We admit that old enterprises might have kept us from losing ground. But it was the creation of wholly new enterprises which enabled us to gain ground.

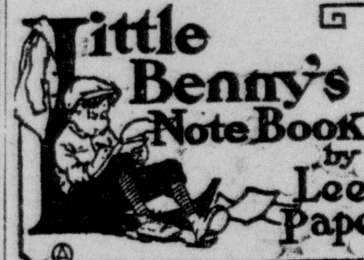

If the automobile industry had not sprung up out of nothing, as though called into being by the rubbing of Aladdin's lamp, what could have taken its place? Not the railroads, lacking the 3,000,000 carloads a year of automobile freight which they now carry. Not the cement industry, lacking the demand which the automobile created for good roads. Not the producers of gasoline, who now sell to motorists 80 per cent of their product.

Consider, also, to what a large extent the automobile has brought about the building of factories, blast furnaces, office buildings, sales rooms, garages, filling stations, mines, refineries, and tourist resorts. All these have put new money into circulation and enlarged the flow into consumers' pockets.

No doubt, motion pictures and radios would have come anyway. And to the extent that the expansion of these industries caused an expansion of the nation's payroll, these new industries would have done as much as the automobile industry to increase our prosperity.

This brings us directly to the second lesson in the Tom Thumb Golf Course School of Economics. That is our subject for tomorrow.

TRUNKS

Trunks always hold a good deal but sometimes they hold more, depending on who packed them.

A big trunk packed by a lady will hold all the clothes of at least 2 people. In case it gets lost while it's holding them, nothing could hardly make the 2 people feel unluckier.

Trunks are some of the hardest things to lift and carry, taking special men to do it called express men. They get very good at it on account of so much practice, but they never seem to actually enjoy it, properly not liking the idea of always standing in the same city themselves and helping other people go away. Nobody wants to be the one to tell the express men that they are suppose to carry a trunk all a ways up to the 3rd floor instead of leaving it rite inside the door the way they feel like.

When a trunk has to be packed, the first thing to do with it is get it out of the storeroom empty. Your father keeps on saying he will do it and keeps on not doing it until finally on the last day the man that carries up the ashes does it.

About a hour after your trunk has been threw into a express wagon with 20 strange trunks it must be a shock to remember you forgot to pack your name and address on it and where you wanted it to go to.

The biggest trunk for the smallest purpose is a elephants trunk when you pack it with one peanut.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
14 Years Ago Today

SEPTEMBER, 4, 1916

The city trustees of Orange met Monday morning to fix the tax rate for the coming year, and decided that the charge should be $1.30 per $100 of property valuation.

A large force of men is engaged in recovering and replacing two giant bridge steels weighing about 30 tons, which were swept from their places on the Santa Fe bridge over the Santa Ana river north of Orange during the rains of last winter.

Mrs. Belle Rogers, county president of the W. C. T. U., attended a meeting of the State Executive at Temperance Temple, Los Angeles, recently.

Miss Linda Paul, who has been attending summer school at Columbia University, New York, arrived home Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Warren returned yesterday from Camp Baldy, where they have spent the past several days.

C. D. Holmes, 517 Wellington avenue, is now having the old Bernke place on North Main street remodeled, and expects to make his home there after the completion of the alterations.

Thoughts On Modern Life

CLASSIFYING PRISONERS

Yesterday I set down as the four major perils of America's prison system the following:

- (1) Overcrowding.
- (2) The indiscriminate mixing of all kinds of prisoners.
- (3) Idleness.
- (4) Insanitary and health-destroying prison buildings.

Today I want to speak of the positive dealing with the peril that lurks in the indiscriminate mixing of all kinds of prisoners in our overcrowded prisons.

Every state should place prisoners in their prisons in the light of the findings of a classification clinic.

Dr. E. A. Doll, formerly director of classification in New Jersey, suggests that psychiatrists found in the New Jersey experiment in classification of prisoners that virtually all prisoners fall into one or the other of four classes, viz:

- (1) The Amenable Class.
- (2) The Anti-Social Class.

This class is made up of prisoners who, despite their ill fortune, bear no ill will against society. They are, in the main, intelligent. Their personalities are good. They are amenable to discipline, and may be expected to benefit by training.

This class is made up of prisoners who, because of their ill fortune, bear an ill will against society, and show a determination to strike back at the social order that has exiled them. They have long criminal records. Their habits are vicious. Their associates have been bad. They are lazy. They are likely to be drug addicts or chronic alcoholics. There may be men and women of high native intelligence in this class.

(3) The Defective Delinquent Class.
This class is made up of prisoners who display varied forms of mental abnormality. They may show evidence of all sorts of constitutional defects, of epilepsy, of borderline insanity, and the like. They are likely to display sensitivity, and temperamental maladjustment generally. The intelligence level of this class may be fairly high compared with some other groups of prisoners.

(4) The Subnormal Class.
This class is made up of prisoners who are simple and feeble-minded, or near feeble-minded. Their sins against society spring from their low intelligence and their openness to suggestion. They are not set in any sinister attitude towards society. The seeds of heredity have been stacked against them. Any training that shall enable them to find adjustment to normal living, if at all successful, must be a long and laborious enterprise.

Obviously we cannot have a socially serviceable prison system until throughout the nation we classify these divergent types of prisoners, segregate them, and devise for each the type of training suited to the social and psychic problem it presents.

If we mix them and standardize our treatment of them the worst will drag the rest to their level or tend so to drag them.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI
HUNT THE SLIPPER

"That's the last time, the very last time," Aunt Katherine sat down breathing heavily. "Every time I go to take one of those children anywhere I have to wait until they finish a game of the slipper. This is the last time, I tell you, and I mean it."

"I thought it would be nice to take Dollie to the fair. She has never seen a county fair, and I thought it would be nice for her to see this one. I told her mother yesterday that I'd be over early. There's no sense in going to a fair unless you can stay all day. When I go I want to see everything and be at the awarding of the prizes. Else what's the use?"

"So I told Sue yesterday to have Katherine ready by half past eight. I know their ways and I was going to make sure this time. It was a beautiful morning to go to the fair. A rainy day spoils everything. Nothing looks good. But this morning was great. Just made for it."

"I got the Ford ready last night and was at the door eight-thirty on the dot, thinking we'd be in at the first showing before everything got wilted and picked over, you know. I ran in expecting Katherine to meet me and there was Sue lighting the fire. 'O, you're early,' says she."

"Is Katherine ready? I want to make an early start," said I. and Sue says, just as cool as a cucumber, 'She isn't up yet. I'll call her. Sit down a minute. She'll be ready in a jiffy. I told her last night that you were coming early.'"

"Well, she called and she called. By and by Katherine came down in her bathrobe and slippers for her breakfast. She ate that in no time and I hope that she was started. Goodness knows they wear so little these days that it oughtn't to take them all day to put it on."

"But it wasn't putting it on, that made the trouble. It was finding it. It was, 'Ma, where is my other stocking? Ma, I can't find my garters.'"

"Take Helen's." "I did but I can't find the other one." "This went on and on and at last she was ready all except one shoe. That shoe couldn't be found. 'Well, you'll just have to wear Helen's. I never saw such children for losing things. Where's your black slippers Helen? You don't know? Go find them right away so you won't keep Aunt Katherine waiting. Now you ought to get the other. Sam, did you see Helen's other shoe? Well, go look. That may be it. I guess Mike carried it off. He's an awful dog for carrying things off. Yes, that's it. Goodness, he's chewed off the buttons.'"

Ever play that game? One or two experiences are usually sufficient for an outsider. One ought to be enough for the housekeeper. A place for everything and everything in its place—every child taught to attend to his own business, his own things, and the burden of life will become suddenly lighter.
